Says Cities Can Make Assessments

SLEEPER ANSWERS CRITICS

County Assessor Fires Verbal Broadside at Fullerton Chamber

ANNOUNCES CUT FOR THREE COUNTY TOWNS

Declares Assessor Not Responsible For High Taxation Rate

BROADSIDES of hot shot were fired today by County Assessor James Sleeper in reply to what he considers a "bushwhacking" attack on him by a number of Fullerton men. Recently the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce heard a criticism of Sleeper on the ground that assessments in the north end of the county were too high, that taxes there were too high, that the north end of the county was paying tax money that was used elsewhere in the county. It was proposed that the matter be taken up by the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange County.

Incidentally, while replying to the Fullerton fusillade, Sleeper served official notice today on three Orange county cities, Santa Ana, Fullerton and Seal Beach, to the effect that he is very likely to reduce their assessments the coming year, and if they feel that they want more tax money they may establish city assessor systems of their own.

The reason why Sleeper served this notice on these particular cities is that they take the county assessment and have their taxes collected through the county instead of maintaining separate assessors and tax collectors, such as other cities of the county have.

"You have time," said Sleeper in his letter, "to provide your own assessor or adjust your expenditures to conform to a lower assessed valuation." Sleeper said that the city that has its rates as high as the law allows cannot collect as much tax money on a lower assessment as is being collected for it this year.

This notice, however, was but incidental to Sleeper's reply to the Fullerton attack.

"Get the idea that the assessor is responsible for high taxes. That is all nonsense. All the assessor does is to fix values for assessment purposes. It is up to local boards to say whether that assessment shall pay $10 taxes or $100 taxes or some other amount."

Analyzes Trouble

"Yesterday I met a city official from Fullerton. I hopped all over him. I said to him, 'Why didn't you fellows come over here and look at the assessments before you started that wild attack?' Not a man from Fullerton came to this office to see whether it was true that property in Fullerton was assessed higher in proportion than property elsewhere—not a single solitary man looked at the books—and yet the whole town gets stirred up and tries to take the hide off me. I start a great big yell over something that hasn't the slightest foundation in fact."

"The trouble at Fullerton," said Sleeper, "is the same as it is elsewhere. The tax bills come in a lump, and the taxpayer has heart failure. He doesn't stop to analyze or dissect the bill. He lets out a loud wail and jumps with both feet on to the courthouse, and spraddles on top of the county assessor or the tax collector or the board of supervisors. That kind of a taxpayer never thinks that anyone around home is to blame. It is always somebody at the courthouse."

"That is just the reason why at this time I am taking to Fullerton today some facts and figures. I want those people to know that the trouble at Fullerton is right at home, not in the courthouse."

Show Statements

Sleeper produced tabulated statements to prove his contention that Fullerton has been spending considerable money for school and city purposes.

"First," said he, "I want to answer a statement made in a Fullerton paper. It was given out that Adam Brandie of Fullerton had been everlastingly soaked on his taxes, and the blame was all tied to the assessor. Now let's consider Brandie's case. Since this matter came up I have closely examined

Messengers Robbed In Daring Holdup

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—Three bandits today held up two bank messengers of the Pacific Gas and Electric company in front of the company's offices here today, seized a satchel containing $7,796 in cash and $23,000 in negotiable bonds, and escaped.

The bonds were found a few minutes later lying in the gutter of an alley where the bandits' automobile had been parked.

W. A. Johnson and Harry J. O'Lage had just stepped from the office door on their way to the bank when the bandits appeared, knocked Johnson to the pavement and the satchel and fled across the street through the yard of a church to where their car awaited them and drove away after discarding the bonds.

Johnson was not severely injured.

'CUTTING IN' TO RESULT IN JAIL TERMS

Kenneth Morrison, newly appointed justice of the peace to take the place of the late Justice John B. Cox, is going to "be hard" on violators of traffic laws.

This was decided the minute he was appointed, when he stated that he would carry out Judge Cox's methods in handling speeders and other violators in every way.

Today, he plans to "go even one better," with a statement that "cutting in" would receive jail sentences when the case was strong enough to warrant such a sentence.

"In my mind, cutting in is a worse crime than speeding, and some of these fellows who dash in front of one car after another along the road and are arrested, had better bring their pajamas along, because they are going to spend some nights over in the jail," he stated today.

COMMITTEE JOB TAKEN FROM SOLO

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Senator Ladd, Independent Republican of North Dakota, today was put off by the Republican steering committee which charts the majority's legislative course in the upper house.

Announcement of the action was made today by Senator Curtis, Republican leader.

Senator Wadsworth, N. Y., was chosen the new chairman of the committee, which was completely revised to permit Senators Watson and Curtis to retire.

Hold S. A. Youth On Theft Charge

Having made a statement to the court, in which he admitted that he borrowed the automobile of his uncle for a joy ride, Henry Broest, local youth, was today held to answer in the superior court by Justice Kenneth E. Morrison.

F. D. Robinson, the boy's uncle, refused to permit family ties to prevent punishment of his nephew. He brought the grand larceny charge against Broest.

5 Killed, 10 Hurt In Detroit Crash

DETROIT, Mich., Dec. 4.—A coroner's jury will start investigation here today to determine cause of the collision of a Detroit-Toledo interurban and a motor truck here last night that resulted in the death of five persons and injury of ten others.

Wreck victims were burned almost beyond recognition from flames that flashed into kerosene drums the truck was carrying.

Dig Further For Skeleton In Armor

LA JUNTA, Colo., Dec. 4.—Further excavations were planned today on a spot 18 miles south of here where two boys stumbled onto a skeleton in armor yesterday.

Near the find was an ancient flintlock blunderbuss, telling tales of a sixteenth century battle between Spanish conquistadores and American redskins.

The armor is inlaid with ivory and bears inscriptions which have not yet been deciphered.

BIG STORM SWEEPING MID-WEST

Nebraska to Panhandle Is Affected By Blizzard; Communication Cut Off

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 4.—A general storm is sweeping the middle west from Nebraska to the Texas Panhandle. Sleet and snow prevail throughout the northern storm district and heavy rains in the southern. Wire services are badly interrupted, although railroads report all trains from the west are running on time.

The storm brought with it the first general rain to this section in months and is of inestimable value to farmers.

POST WARNINGS ON PACIFIC COAST

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—Storm warnings were ordered raised all along the coast today as the barometer fell in the face of a storm moving from the North Pacific.

A cold rain fell here during the morning.

JAP IMMIGRATION FEELING SUBSIDES

RIO DE JANEIRO, Dec. 4.—Agitation for restriction of Japanese immigration has subsided due to the most important question of Italian immigration which was brought to a head by a campaign against emigration from Italy to Brazil by certain Rome papers.

Brazil press and legislators, therefore, are not giving much attention to Japanese immigration. What is locally considered a good omen for the Japanese immigrant is an editorial in the Jornal Di Commercio, property of the Brazilian foreign minister and usually the mouthpiece of the government, which said:

"There is no reason why Brazil should concern itself regarding Japanese immigration. The number of Japanese coming to Brazil within the past few years is insufficient to be of vast cause for concern."

The Jornal Di Commercio simultaneously denied reports from Tokyo, published here, that extensive immigration by Japanese to Brazil was contemplated for next year.

MICH. MAN FOUND BEACH SUICIDE

LONG BEACH, Cal., Dec. 4.—Floating in the water off the local pier, the body of C. Kuns, R. F. D. No. 1, Milan, Mich., was found by police today. The man, apparently a suicide, had fired a bullet into his brain. The body had been in the water 10 days, it was estimated.

Kuns was identified from a photograph and description received three days ago from Mrs. Kuns, who told police that she had heard from her husband in a letter saying that "the next time you hear about me it will be that I'm on the bottom of the ocean."

Mrs. Kuns said she knew of no reason why her husband should take his life unless it was worry over the fact that a 17-year-old stepson has failed in his school work.

Another stepson, John Hunter lives in San Bernardino, Calif.

MUST FOLLOW DAWES PLAN

BERLIN, Dec. 4.—Great Britain and France will be warned by Dr. Parker Gilbert Jr., administrator of the Dawes reparations plan, of Germany, that no special arrangement for collection outside that suggested by the Dawes commission, will be countenanced.

Gilbert announced he will go to London and then to Paris and insist that the 26 per cent agreement of England and France with Germany whereby a portion of the purchase price of all imports into those countries from Germany goes to their respective accounts, will not be credited on the commission's books.

Germany also is to be warned that there is to be no deviation from the plan agreed upon by the allies, and that there shall be no favoritism.

27 Days Left To Get Wife Or Lose $1000

SAN MATEO, Cal., Dec. 4.—City Treasurer Charles A. Ginnever of San Mateo must produce a wife by midnight December 31, or lose $1000.

Ginnever, Kenneth Melrose and Frank G. Stoner agreed several weeks ago that all three must be married before the bells ring out on the new year. Melrose and Stoner saved their cash and took credit in the form of a wife apiece.

Ginnever has been stalling around and when asked about the bargain, sticks his tongue in his cheek and chuckles.

"Wife? Why, I've got 27 shopping days left," says he.

SAY FORBES TOOK BRIBES FOR CONTRACTS

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—Colonel Charles R. Forbes, while head of the United States veterans' bureau, agreed to accept $50,000 each for three government hospital contracts to be given to the Harley-Mason company on the Pacific coast, Elias H. Mortimer, star government witness, testified today in the Forbes-Thompson fraud trial.

Mortimer testified concerning a conversation he said he overheard between Forbes and Charles B. Hurley, head of the contracting firm.

Hurley, the witness said, asked Forbes for the contracts to build the hospitals at Livermore, Cal., American Lake, Wash., and St. Cloud, Minn. He offered to pay Forbes $50,000 for each contract, the witness charged.

Mortimer said it was the understanding that he was to get 35 per cent of the contractors' profits and share equally his money with Forbes.

Judge George A. Carpenter at this point adjourned court until tomorrow morning in order that he might have luncheon with President Coolidge.

ACCUSED LAWYER MAY AVOID TRIAL

VANCOUVER, B. C., Dec. 4.—F. R. Anderson, Vancouver attorney who jumped his bail in San Francisco following arrest for violation of the prohibition laws, has been reconsidering his position and perhaps will not voluntarily return to San Francisco for trial in January, he said today.

When Anderson returned here a week ago, he said he would go back for trial.

Today, however, he issued a statement saying he had been advised by his attorney, John McNair in San Francisco, that if he went back he would be rearrested and held in $50,000 bail.

"30" BULLETINS

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 4.—Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, pastor of the Central Congregational church, Brooklyn, N. Y., today was elected president of the Federal Council of churches in quadrennial session here.

Dr. Frank H. Mann, president of the Union Mortgage Bank, New York City, was made treasurer and Raymond D. Lord, also of New York, was re-elected recording secretary.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The new $200,000,000 four per cent 30-year treasury bond issue announced Tuesday night has been over-subscribed by $300,000,000, the treasury department announced today.

Cash subscription lists have been closed and the bonds will be allotted among subscribers on a prorata basis. Exchange lists remain open.

AMSTERDAM, Dec. 4.—Fourteen persons have been killed in new earthquakes near Wono-zo, Java, according to dispatches here today.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The senate late today confirmed appointment of Howard M. Gore to be secretary of agriculture. He will serve until March 1, when he becomes governor of West Virginia.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The Muscle Shoals fight was opened in the senate today when Senator Norris, leader of the midwestern farm group, formally started debate with a speech calling for adoption of his own bill.

Passage of the Norris bill would prevent Southern power companies from controlling the $50,000,000 government project and safeguard manufacture of cheap fertilizer for farmers.

COOLIDGE SPEAKS AT STOCK SHOW

Appeals For Sympathetic Co-operation With Nations of World

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—Inclement weather greeted President and Mrs. Coolidge when they arrived here at 8:55 a. m. today to attend the International Livestock exposition.

More than 100 uniformed policemen formed an avenue for the Presidential party and many plain clothes men mingled with the crowd.

A strenuous program confronted President and Mrs. Coolidge for the thirteen hours of their visit to Chicago. Primarily the Coolidges come here as the guests of honor of the International Livestock exposition but only approximately half of their time here will be spent in or near the exposition building.

Two speeches, two luncheons and two dinners are on the program.

Conferences with Republican leaders of the middle west will take much of Mr. Coolidge's time. Tremendous cheers boomed out at the appearance of Mr. Coolidge. It is his first appearance in the middle west since he took office.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS CAREFULLY NOTED

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—Without referring by name to the League of Nations, the world court or any other form of international machinery, President Coolidge today made a straightaway appeal for sympathetic co-operation with other nations as the one firm foundation for this country's well being.

Speaking at a luncheon of the Chicago Commercial club, the President asserted that just as the common prosperity of agriculture and industry in this country depended on their people's good relations, so the continued prosperity of the United States depend on co-operation with other nations.

"We cannot expect, in the long course of events, to maintain our country on a permanent level of general well being far above that of other people," said Mr. Coolidge. "I am profoundly impressed with the fact that the structure of modern society is essentially a unity, destined to stand or fall as such."

At the last, those of us who are partners in the supreme service of building and bettering our civilization must go up or go down, must succeed or fail together, in our one common enterprise.

"We can no more assume permanent and stable peace without cooperation among nations than we could assume victory in war without allies among them."

President Coolidge was careful to avoid committing his advocacy of international co-operation to any specific international legal machinery, either existent or contemplated.

"I would not have you mistake my meaning," he pointed out. "I should never advocate the sacrifice of any part of our prosperity because of the vague hope that in following indiscriminate impulses of kindness we might help some who are in worse condition than ourselves."

"Nor would I sacrifice our independence and freedom of action. I do not believe that we are strong enough, or that any people ever was strong enough to accomplish any permanent good in the world through the indiscriminations of mere, organized, undirected generosity."

"We can only help those who will help themselves. In any other rule, I am convinced, would like disaster for us and increasing misfortune for those whom we might seek to serve."

The President paid a warm tribute to Chicago, of which he said:

"It is first as the great market place to which the world resorts to buy and sell its food."

He turned to the Biblical history of the "Period of agricultural depression" in the world at the time

WINN SLAYERS IN MEXICO, BELIEF

SAN BERNARDINO, Dec. 4.—Search for the slayers of James Winn, local taxicab driver, today led to the Mexican border—and there halted.

Convinced that Harry Baker and H. B. Alberts, suspected of the crime, have fled across the line at Tia Juana two deputies from Sheriff Shay's office have been sent to search for them. Thus far, according to reports here, the quest has been fruitless.

Baker was employed on the dairy of James Doyle, local rancher, and it was beneath a house on the Doyle ranch that Winn's crumpled body was found.

Lumber Believed Lost off Vessel

CRESCENT CITY, Cal., Dec. 4.—The coast off Crescent City was strewn with lumber today believed to have come from the deckload of the steamer South Coast of the Hobbs-Wall company's line, caught in a gale after clearing from Crescent City harbor last night.

The vessel did not report her condition during the night, but is believed to have weathered the blow.

WALNUT MEN OF S. A. GET HUGE SLICE

$9,000,000 Mellon Is Cut By Association In First Pool of Season

WALNUT GROWERS of Orange county identified with associations affiliated with the California Walnut Growers' association will have $1,791,861 to spend on Christmas presents—if they want to use their money in that way, it was revealed here today with receipt of information from the head office in Los Angeles that the central organization had distributed to the forty associations $9,000,000 in returns from the first pool of nuts this season.

It also was learned here that the Santa Ana Walnut Growers' association would on December 15 send checks to its members, the local distribution being $523,840, the largest amount received by any of the individual associations.

Amounts distributed to other associations in the county were given as follows:

Fullerton - Placentia, $200,794; Anaheim, $204,942; Bastanchury Ranch company, Fullerton, $100,383; Capistrano, $150,261; Garden Grove, $137,190; La Habra, $59,637; Irvine, $295,721; Orange County Walnut Growers' exchange, $53,982; Richmond (at Orange), $215,266; Carlyle Thorpe, general manager of the California Walnut Growers' association, estimates that growers will receive another million dollars from unshelled nuts in the second pool and from walnut meats, the amount being divided between the two types.

According to Thorpe distribution of the $9,000,000 marks one of the quickest clean-ups in the history of the co-operative marketing organization.

"The crop was somewhat lighter than it was last year, but the prices were the best that walnut growers have enjoyed since 1919, and the crop was disposed of in record time," Thorpe said. "Returns from the first pool represent new money which has been brought into Southern California from the east to be spent in the upbuilding of California. Most of the money comes from the big eastern cities of population and is just that much new wealth brought here within forty-five days from the time the growers began harvesting their walnuts."

Distributions to other associations were as follows:

Fullerton, $276,518; Contra Costa, $233,572; Chico, $259,922; La Puente, $204,950; Hemet, $100,000; Burt, $105,442; Anderson-Barnesover, $100,000; Anderson, $28,548; Bishop, $29,965; Capistrano, $33,382; W. W. Fitzgerald, $16,728; Lettingwell, $27,000; Leelanau, $20,766; Lincoln, $20,000; Moorepark, $10,765; Mountain View, $10,000; Santa Rosa, $202,104; Oxnard Walnut Growers' association, $104,242; Riverside Walnut Growers' association, $64,129; Santa Barbara, $592,523; Santa Clara, $205,190; San Bernardino, $91,258; Santa Paula, $146,471; Salicor, $101,439; Sespe Land & Water company, $5,563; Stini Valley, $33,343; Ventura Land & Water company, $24,831; Visalia, $75,594; Walnut Fruit association, $238,515; John H. Wheeler, $10,202; Whittier, $420,132.

CROWDED TRAIN IS TELESKOPE FROM REAR; 30 INJURED

Wreck Occurs on "Mole" System When Brakes on Train Running Close Behind Fail to Function or Wheels Fail to Hold

PLATFORM OF HEADLONG CAR CRASHED THROUGH TRAIN AHEAD, WREAKING HAVOC

Terrible Scene of Carnage Described By Survivors and Eyewitnesses; Work of Rescue Still Proceeding As Toll of Dead Is Checked

OAKLAND, Cal., Dec. 4.—Two electric trains loaded with people enroute to work in San Francisco, were wrecked here today with a loss of life estimated at fifteen. Eight bodies have been identified.

Approximately 30 others were reported severely injured.

Intense confusion followed the wreck which occurred on the Key route interurban system's Oakland "mole" west of fortieth and Hollis streets, Oakland.

The identified dead were:

C. C. O'Loughlin, aged 25, San Francisco.

Frank P. Hoppe, Oakland.

F. J. Gibson, a machinist at the Goat Island, Cal., lighthouse.

Two unidentified women with their heads crushed, are dead at the Oakland morgue.

Three others died at Oakland hospitals during the morning.

It was believed that others of the injured will die and others were reported dead but in the confusion verification was impossible.

The trains were a Twelfth street Key Route train and a Sacramento Flyer on the San Francisco-Sacramento short line.

"I was a passenger aboard the Twelfth street train of the Key Route," E. W. Dwing of the Western Electric company told the United Press.

"Our train was on the Key route mole just about to run out on the trestle work section of the pier. A train ahead of us was running more slowly and I felt the brakes applied to our train, to prevent us running too close to it."

"A local on the San Francisco-Sacramento Short Line was running behind."

Think Brakes Failed

"As we slowed down the Short Line train came charging upon our train. Apparently its brakes failed to function or the wheels did not hold on the wet tracks."

"The front platform of the Short Line train hit the rear of our train above the floor level and it seemed to sweep right through the car, killing and injuring as it went."

"It was a terrible scene."

"Men leaped from the cars; women screamed; and there was a general confusion."

"Most of the injured were in the rear car of the Twelfth street train, I think."

Emergency calls were sent to all ambulance companies and hospitals in Oakland and to the police emergency hospitals and a wrecking train was rushed from the Key Route shops, carrying not only wrecking equipment but doctors and first aid kits.

The work of clearing up the wreckage and caring for the dead and injured proceeded rapidly. Within an hour the injured were being carried to various hospitals—wherever room for them could be found. Many of the dead died in ambulances enroute to the hospitals.

Accurate count of the killed and injured was impossible two hours after the wreck had taken place.

The spot where the wreck took place was within a matter of yards of the end of the rock portion of the "mole." A little farther on and the trains would have been on the trestle built for nearly a mile into the bay—and drowning would have been added to the horror of the disaster.

The wreck is the first serious accident on the interurban system of the San Francisco Bay region in many years and the most serious ever reported on the Key Route system.

Heard Brakes Shriek

C. W. Newman, of Oakland, also a passenger on the Twelfth street train, said the first he realized anything was happening was when he heard the brakes of the oncoming Short Line train "screaking wildly."

It was just a moment until the crash came," he said.

"The Short Line train swept the rear car of our train, its platform through the car like a great scythe, cutting people down."

"There was a bedlam of moans and screams."

"The cries died away and for a moment there was almost absolute silence. No one said anything. No one knew what to do. 'Pretty soon those less seriously injured began crawling away; and those badly hurt resumed their moans as the stunning effect of the blow passed away."

"Here a man would drag himself from the wreckage, unable to stand because of an injured thigh."

HOLD TROOPS TO REPEL UPRISING

PARIS, Dec. 4.—Spanish troops were being held in readiness at Pamplona, near the Franco-Spanish border, to repel rumored plans of revolutionists to force a large number of men across the border to precipitate a general uprising against Premier Primo de Rivera, according to a dispatch to the journal.

Border guards have been doubled and motor vehicles made ready to rush troops to any threatened point according to the dispatch. A revolution junta with headquarters here is reported sponsoring a revolution by force.

ATTEMPTS SUICIDE IN COURT

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—The attempt of Victor Bean charged with burglary, to commit suicide in Superior Judge Fred Wood's court here today was frustrated when Bailiff James Crowley snatched a razor from his hand as he was about to cut his throat.

POLICE DRIVE AGAINST 'VAGS' IS CONTINUED

With eight men arrested on vagrancy charges within the last twenty-four hours, and with seven released from the county jail early today after serving terms of 30 days in jail on the same charge, city and county police were today continuing their drive against all persons who have no visible means of support.

The seven men released from jail today were L. Martinez, J. H. Hogan, B. Gutierrez, M. Gonzales, Frank Nerey, Gail Murphy and Elmer Gagnon.

That there always are more vagrant arrests during the month of December than any other month was made known from police headquarters today when officials stated every effort was being made to arrest men who had no visible means of support, police records show that during December more "vags" are in evidence than at any other time.

The men arrested last night by city police were: Orvil Lyon, 1:15 a. m., charged with being drunk; Pedro Gomez, Manuel Carro and F. Figueroa, arrested when they were found asleep in a box car at 11 p. m. by Officer Murray. They were charged with vagrancy, and Frank Collins, Frank Duseal, Herbert Valcutt and Tom Farrell, ranging in age from 18 to 26, arrested by Officer Murray at 11 p. m. at Fourth and Breeden streets, were charged with vagrancy.

Bandits In Raid On 'Social' Club

SANTA FE SPRINGS, Dec. 4.—Four armed bandits raided the Isabel Social club, near here, early today, robbed six persons and escaped after a gun battle.

Dashing up to the resort in an automobile, the robbers lined up those within and escaped with $120 and valuable jewelry.

SET FUNERAL FOR JOHN ALLEN

Funeral services for John D. Allen, prominent pioneer citizen who died yesterday at his home after a long illness, will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock from the Church of the Messiah, the Rev. W. L. H. Beaton officiating.

Smith and Tutill, funeral directors, will have charge of the services, and a request has been made that no flowers be sent.

Burial will be made in Fairhaven cemetery.

W. M. CORY HEADS ORANGE CO. BODY

W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor, was elected president of the Orange County Welfare conference at the monthly meeting held at the James case last night. Other officers selected were Miss Alma Karlson, Fullerton, vice-president, and Mrs. Eda Mae Pine, Huntington Beach, secretary and treasurer. The retiring president is Dr. Leland Mitchell, county health officer.

The principal speaker at the meeting was Miss Rosamond Adams, of Seattle, in charge of nutrition work for the American Red Cross. Miss Adams is appearing before the various schools and telling the children of the need of eating nutritious foods. Her work is said to be highly successful.

Twenty-two members of the conference from all parts of the county were in attendance at the meeting. The city in which the next gathering will be held has not been selected.

LUNCH STAND MAN TO LEARN FATE

The case of B. Cecil Jack, formerly proprietor of a lunch stand known as "Dinty Moore's," at Orana, was expected to reach jury this afternoon after a brief trial, starting at 10 a. m., in Superior Judge Z. B. West's court.

The state called two witnesses against Jack, who is accused of an attempt to commit a statutory offense. An Anaheim woman, complaining witness in the case, and her daughter, 20, were the witnesses. Both had been employed by Jack before his arrest.

Then men and two women composed the jury. Chief Deputy District Attorney C. N. Mozley appeared for the state and Attorney S. S. Hahn, Los Angeles, defended Jack. Jack testified in his own defense, denying the woman's accusations.

Opening argument for the state being waived, the defense argument was completed when the noon recess was taken. Closing argument for the state and the court's instructions to the jury were scheduled early this afternoon.

CLAIMS HUSBAND USED VIOLENCE

Transferred from Los Angeles county to the superior court of this county on a change of venue order, the divorce suit of Stella Jones against William Jones, the latter a resident of Anaheim, was on file here today.

Mrs. Jones charged cruelty. She declared her husband is habitually intemperant and that, on several occasions while he was under the influence of liquor, he used violence upon her. Once he fired a revolver through the floor in an attempt to frighten her. On another occasion, she said, he tried to throw her from a moving automobile while they were driving to Santa Ana.

The couple were married at San Bernardino in 1913 and separated August 15, 1923. They have five children, now being cared for by a Los Angeles minister. In Los Angeles county, before the case was transferred here, Mrs. Jones secured an order requiring her husband to pay $16 per week for the support of the children.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones own a home at 402 South Clementina street, Anaheim.

Attorneys Ames and McFadden, of Anaheim, appear for Jones in the case.

Radio-adaptable Victrolas never "sign off"

The constant improvement in radio cannot make your investment obsolete, if you place in one of these specially designed Victrolas the radio you prefer and then keep it up to date. You have two instruments in the same cabinet. Then when air programs cease or are uninteresting the Victrola lets you make your own programs at your leisure. Programs unequalled, including at command such masterpieces as the present week's release of two new duets by Galli-Curci and Schipa, to be heard among 18,000 other selections only on Victor Records.

Correct Clothes To Meet The Obligation Of Every Occasion

JEWELRY FOR EVENING DRESS
In style, as in everything else, "more water gildeth by the mill than the miller wots of" and in the span of time we all part with many old-time prejudices. Some years ago, it was considered questionable form for a gentleman to wear ornate jewelry with evening dress, either the Tuxedo or the swallowtail. Today, splendid sets are to be seen everywhere and, instead of deprecating the practice, we envy the possessor.

Jewelry for evening use must match, that is, the shirt-studs, cuff-buttons and waistcoat buttons must show the same stones though varying, of course, in size. Nothing has been devised to take the place of splendid pearls or the less costly black, white or smoked enamels and these are practically standard for evening wear.

Generally speaking, plain jewelry should be reserved for formal evening dress, though the use of pearls-with-diamonds and platinum are permissible through custom. With Tuxedo clothes, which are informal or semi-formal in character, much wider latitude is granted. Indeed, almost any white or colored precious or semi-precious stones are allowed, provided only that they harmonize and are not exaggerated or eccentric in composition or shape.

Among the recent innovations for formal dress are the domed crystal buttons having a diamond center edged with a beadwork of diamonds. For the Tuxedo there is the engraved platinum button showing a center formed by an oblong sapphire or cut onyx. Also deserving of mention is the engine-turned button in the semblance of a diamond with a cabochon sapphire in the center. To be sure, there are almost countless other stones and combinations of them all of which have their personal and particular appeal to the lover of gems.

Always buy your evening jewelry in sets. Be mindful that it need not be expensive, for a little taste goes further than a lot of money. Do not wear the same jewelry with your Tuxedo suit that you would wear with ceremonious dress. Avoid stones that glitter too much. It is better form to have them dull in finish. Use a bit of chamols to rub them up now and then.

In the Walk-Over Shoe Store advertisement which appeared in Wednesday's Register, a transposition of prices made the copy offer sale prices incorrectly. Two boxed items in the advertisement should have read as follows: "Walk-Overs, values to $5.50, for men and women, $5.95" and "Walk-Overs, values to $11.00, for men and women, $6.95."

The Shell Oil company last week abandoned Huff No. 1, in the Huntington Beach field, and E. P. Miley discontinued work on A-1 in Orange county, according to the weekly report of the state oil and gas supervisor received here today. In the same field redrilling or deepening work was started by the Standard Oil company on Huntington B-23, by the General Petroleum company on Debney 3 and by the Petroleum Midway Co., Ltd., on Brown No. 3.

Funeral services for Earl Chandler, Santa Ana fugitive who took his own life by slashing his throat with a razor, at his home at 718 Lacy street early Tuesday morning, were held from the Smith and Tenth funeral parlors at 10:30 a. m. today. The Rev. Will A. Betts pastor of the First Methodist church, officiated. Burial was made in Fairhaven cemetery.

A. A. Brock, county horticultural commissioner, will leave Santa Ana Friday afternoon for Sacramento to attend a conference of commissioners with G. H. Hecke, state director of agriculture. Mr. Brock will remain in the north a week, attending the farmers and fruit growers convention next week.

It was announced this morning at the Y. M. C. A. that the general standing committee in charge of the physical department will meet tomorrow noon at the "Y" building for the purpose of discussing the working program for 1925. The committee is headed by Alexander Brownridge, and includes A. W. Fuller, Walter Spicer, Dr. A. Stryker, and Nat H. Neff.

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary J. Larter, 88, pioneer citizen of Santa Ana and Orange county, who died early Tuesday morning at her home at 1063 Spurgeon street, were held from the Winbinger Mission funeral home at 10 a. m. today. Members of the family acted as pall bearers, and burial was made in Fairhaven cemetery. The Rev. F. T. Porter, pastor of the First Christian church officiated at the services. A hymn was sung by Mrs. Hazel Hummel.

When members of the Veteran Rebekah association meet tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in I. O. O. F. hall, each one will be expected to have a pretty handkerchief to tuck in the Christmas box which the association will dispatch to the I. O. O. F. Old Ladies' home in time for holiday cheer.

FEE PROBE TO BE DROPPED IS REPORT TODAY

ALHAMBRA, Dec. 4.—Investigation into the death of William R. Fee, local banker, will probably be dropped, it was indicated here today.

With San Bernardino authorities having accepted the autopsy report of County Surgeon Wagner, of Los Angeles, in which Fee is declared to have died a natural death, only probability of a further probe lies in possible action by the widow.

"I don't know whether anything further will be done," Mrs. Fee told the United Press. "I have left everything in the hands of my attorney, Jay Aye, who is my brother-in-law."

The attorney was not in his office, it was learned, but assistants said they knew of no further action contemplated in the Fee case.

Mrs. Fee declined to state whether or not she would attempt to gain letters said to have been written between Fee and Miss Mary Watkins, his "platonic lover," now held by Sheriff Walter Shay, of San Bernardino.

"That is a matter also in the hands of my attorney," Mrs. Fee said.

Miss Watkins was in San Bernardino late yesterday conferring with her attorney, Byron Waters. She wants the letters, it is believed, as well as securities said to have been removed from a deposit box held jointly by her and Fee, which are now in possession of Fee's bank.

Sheriff Shay, however, says he will not return the letters to Miss Watkins, but will turn them over to the bank.

Word was received this morning by R. H. Norton, traveling passenger agent of the Santa Ana railroad headquarters in this city, that it has been definitely decided to establish a city ticket office in the heart of the business district.

The exact location of the new office will be determined next month when W. J. Black, general manager of the passenger traffic department, will visit Santa Ana for this purpose.

According to Mr. Norton, the new city ticket office will be in charge of Harry M. Baade, passenger agent, a well known Santa Ana railroad official, who was recently promoted from the position of cashier at the local depot to that of passenger agent.

The establishment of a city ticket office in the city's business district is due to the continued representations of Mr. Norton. It was learned, he pointed out that with the growth of the city and increased volume of travel, Santa Ana was entitled to better accommodations in the matter of securing and travel information.

Coffee Shop Is Sold by Cooper

E. R. Cooper, well known hotel and cafe man, announced today that he has disposed of the Cooper Coffee Shop, corner of North Main and Sixth street, to Marshal Demare and Noah E. Mayhill. The consideration involved was not given out.

Mr. Demare is a new arrival from Indiana. His partner, Mayhill, is an old resident of Santa Ana, having been engaged here in different business activities.

The new owners anticipate making several improvements and extensions to the present equipment, including the deepening of the present store room, following which they will open a first class cafeteria in conjunction with a soda fountain. When ready for operation, the cafeteria will be managed by H. W. Warwick, a well known caterer who has managed several eating places in the city, including the Rossmore Cafeteria.

Found guilty of possessing intoxicating liquor, T. W. Hollwell, local truck driver, was fined $50 in City Recorder W. F. Heathman's court late yesterday. Hollwell was arrested when a pint bottle of alleged "hoose" was taken from his car while he was attending the Choral Union's opera "Fra Diavolo" at the high school Tuesday night.

W. R. Vorce, charged with turning his car around in the middle of a block, was fined $5. Two violators of the parking ordinances of the city were fined. They were Mrs. H. Nichols, parking in a restricted district, $3, and H. N. Thornton, parking in a restricted district, $2.

FARM HEADS DISCUSS MOST GLARING NEEDS OF ORANGE COUNTY WITH STATE SOLONS

Fifteen members of the legislative committee of the Orange county farm bureau, representing virtually every farm industry in the county, met in conference at Ketter's cafe last night and discussed various needs in the county for the coming two years with Chester M. Kline, California state senator and S. C. Hartranft, newly elected assemblyman from the seventy-sixth assembly district, of Fullerton, together with R. H. Taylor, secretary of the Agricultural Legislative committee of the California farm bureau federation of Sacramento.

There men were honor guests at the meeting.

The needs of the county growers were emphasized to them in an effort to show them the good they may do by supporting bills beneficial to the Orange county and Southern California grower.

Taylor said the committee was an organization of service for both legislators and growers. "Either may call on us at any time for information and we serve them as soon as possible. Success of this organization has been accomplished through the keeping of faith with the legislators. We are shooting square with them and there has been no effort to slip anything over or to play old time politics. We tell them frankly and freely everything they ask and in so doing we are aiding agriculture in California in every way," he said.

Harry W. Lewis, prominent walnut nut man, gave a brief history of the legislative committee, telling of its foundation and the steps taken until today it is one of the most powerful organizations in the state, representing thousands of growers.

Mr. Lewis stated there were over 100 bills before the house last year on the subject of irrigation, and as all were of local interest, the committee did not urge or oppose them, showing that it was only for statewide good that the organization was working.

A. M. Stanley, secretary-manager of Orange county farm bureau, explained although the committee was financed by the growers to promote the idea of reapportionment in the legislature and stated that the only way the farmer could overcome the heavy vote from the cities was through reapportionment.

"There is only one representative from Orange county, while the city of Los Angeles alone has 13 representatives, so you see what chance there is to get something for Orange county if Los Angeles wants it," he said.

Kline pledged his support to all bills favorable to the growers of this county and stated he could be depended upon at any time.

Assemblyman Hartranft also pledged his support.

G. V. Newman, representing the avocado growers; W. C. Jerome, representing the bean growers; E. B. Collier, representing the lemon growers, and Leon Whitsett, representing the county supervisors, also spoke.

LOCAL MAN WITH 'BOTTLE' FINED

Found guilty of possessing intoxicating liquor, T. W. Hollwell, local truck driver, was fined $50 in City Recorder W. F. Heathman's court late yesterday. Hollwell was arrested when a pint bottle of alleged "hoose" was taken from his car while he was attending the Choral Union's opera "Fra Diavolo" at the high school Tuesday night.

W. R. Vorce, charged with turning his car around in the middle of a block, was fined $5. Two violators of the parking ordinances of the city were fined. They were Mrs. H. Nichols, parking in a restricted district, $3, and H. N. Thornton, parking in a restricted district, $2.

Legion Post at Long Beach Elects

LONG BEACH, Dec. 4.—Cliff Wood, Long Beach insurance broker, was elected commander of Arthur L. Peterson Post, American Legion, here today. Wood's election came as a surprise to Legion members, as the race for the command was thought to lie between those nominated at a previous meeting. Wood's name was first offered in nomination at the election meeting. Other officers elected were: Ray Elsey, first vice commander; William Kollender, post adjutant; Walter Knight, second vice commander; Earl Morgan, treasurer; E. P. Polin, sergeant-at-arms; Eric Green, chaplain.

The new commander is a director of the Long Beach Masonic club and has been active in War Risk Bureau work in Alaska and the Northwest.

Ask Early Hearing On School Law

SALEM, Ore., Dec. 4.—A motion to advance hearing on the case of Hill Military Academy against Gov. Pierce and others to test the constitutionality of the Oregon compulsory public school attendance law, was sent by air mail to Washington yesterday by Attorney General Van Winkle.

In the packet were briefs for the Hill case and for one of the Sisters of the Holy Name against Gov. Pierce and others.

Gets Practice In Suicide Methods

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—After leaping twice into San Francisco bay in alleged attempts to end his life, John Davis of Chicago told police he never had any intention of committing suicide.

"Oh, just practicing?" queried the police.

The first jump was from the ferryboat Tamalpais, and while a ferry lifeboat was searching for the "body" a tug picked Davis from the water and brought him to San Francisco. Hardly had he landed on the dock when he broke away and again jumped into the bay. This time the police fished him out.

CHINESE SITUATION IS CAUSING GRAVE CONCERN TO NEIGHBORING NATION

By MOTO TAKATA
(Written for the United Press)

OSAKA, Japan (By mail).—The growing gravity of the Chinese situation is naturally attracting increasing attention in Japan. Discussing the situation, the Japanese press generally holds moderate views and supports the government in its decided policy of "wait and see." Japan is closely related to China, politically and economically, and the imperative necessity of protecting Japan's special position in Manchuria and Mongolia is admitted on all hands. But the question is how to protect it.

The pro-Chang policy advocated by a body of Japanese opinion may be considered as one method, but it is a mistake that real aim can be achieved by this, so regards the representative press. The positive help given to Marshal Chang Tso-lin will induce a general situation detrimental to Japan's interests in China.

So far as Japan's economical interests in China are concerned, it is essential for Japan to cultivate the friendship of Chinese people generally, if she desires to promote them. Japan dreads the outbreak of anti-Japanism in China, mainly because it threatens to affect her economic interests to a serious extent. The Chinese people holds the troops, he they Chihli or Mukden in abhorrence. In their eyes, military party is their common enemy. This being so, any country who desires to help the Chinese military party and aggravate the situation must be fully prepared to incur the general hostility of the Chinese people. This fact must be taken into the most careful consideration by the Japanese authorities, so argues the influential press.

Wait and See

The only course open to her is quietly to watch developments. The fact cannot be denied that in the past Britain, America and other countries have often circulated reports as if Japan were wire-pulling in the background of Marshal Chang, with the result that a good deal of misunderstanding has been created in the foreign minds generally. There may be no occasion for apprehension if really Japan's attitude is above all criticism, but in reality of international relations which are very complex and susceptible to misgiving, it would be wise to use every care to avoid all possibility of misunderstanding. The misunderstandings have largely arisen from suspicion of a certain connection of the Japanese army with the war lord of Mukden. The misunderstanding has two causes: One is entire ignorance on the part of certain critics of the relationship between Marshal and Japan, and the other is an attempt on the part of critics deliberately to injure Japan's position in China. The papers proceed that for those who deliberately misconstrue the relations between Japan and China, nothing can be done, but that with regard to the misunderstandings arising from ignorance of the fact it is important that everything possible should be done to remove it by setting forth the real facts of the case. In any case Japan must conscientiously refrain from all actions which may possibly give rise to misunderstanding about her attitude.

Jingoes Protest

The above is the view held by the influential papers, but there are of course some more jingoistic papers which regard the commotion in China in the light of a national calamity to Japan, and strongly protest against the policy of the government decided to take up. The war has actually been produced by the warlord effects upon Japan's trade with China and her financial situation. Kobe traders are particularly suffering a severe blow. From this reason, they urge that Japan should take definite stand to effect the remedy. But how can this remedy be achieved, they are unable to suggest. Unless the safety of Japanese life and property in China are threatened, Japan will not change of her decided policy of non-interference.

JEWISH GIRLS DO HARD WORK, BAN LIP STICK

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—Palestine in one modern country where lipstick and rouge are taboo, according to Miss Eva Leon, a prominent woman Zionist leader, who has just returned from a nine-months' investigation of the work Jewish women are contributing toward the rebuilding of the Jewish homeland.

Miss Leon was sent to Palestine by the Women's League of the Palestine Foundation Fund (Keren Hayesod) and in her report just made public she states that she has traveled all over the world but never seen such sterling examples of womanhood as are being developed in the Holy Land today.

Don't Shirk Hard Work

"The young women of Palestine—flappers we would call them here in America—shirk no duty, not even the most hazardous or menial, because of their sex," Miss Leon stated. "Some of the finest Jewish agricultural colonies in Palestine are 'manned' exclusively by girls. Although several of these colonies are on the outskirts of Palestine, far from the protection of the cities and the large settlements, the girls do all the farm work and guard their settlement from marauding bands of Bedouins.

"I never once saw lipstick or rouge in Palestine, except on the faces of the tourists, who are coming to the Holy Land in greater numbers than ever before. The Palestine girls spend their days out in the sun and open air and they look upon cosmetics as an evidence of weakness. Yet, despite their arduous activities, they are essentially feminine, and like to dress attractively even during their work."

Miss Leon explained that American-trained farmers, who have introduced the most modern agricultural methods into the Holy Land have been a big factor in its rapid development of recent years. "Some of the more important Jewish colonies make it a practice for their leaders to spend considerable time on American farms, particularly in California, whose climate and topography are strikingly similar to Palestine's," she reported.

"Labor is better organized in Palestine than in any other country in the world. The Jewish workmen are banded together into a strong federation of 20,000 members, which maintains hospitals and sick benefits and even supports a library of 45,000 volumes which supplies books by means of traveling libraries to all the outlying districts.

Country Greatly Changed.

"I visited Palestine three times before the war and in the ten years since my last visit, the country has, in many places, changed beyond recognition so rapid has been its development since the British mandate was issued and Zionist reconstructive activities launched on a wide scale.

"Beggings, one of the earlier curses of Palestine, has almost disappeared, the streets of the cities have been widened and beautified, many barren wastes have been converted into flourishing and fertile colonies, and industrial activities are beginning to boom.

"Ancient Haifa is again becoming a thriving industrial city, now boasting of two new enterprises, a flour mill and a soap factory, which have given employment to many hundreds of workmen and brought prosperity to the city. American Jews have been largely responsible for the rapid development of Palestine through their generous contributions to the Palestine Foundation Fund toward the upbuilding of the Jewish homeland. Many of them also have established thriving industries especially in the manufacture of building material."

HARMFUL TO WEAR 'EM ROLLED, CLAIM

CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 4.—Rolled stockings put kinks in girls' feet and hurt the circulation of the blood, but dancing is a beneficial pastime, Dr. Carl A. Herzog declared here in an address before the Illinois Pediatric association.

"Rolled stockings tie kinks in the nerves," he said.

"Dancing and walking are the best exercises for aiding the feet," he declared. "When the feet move gracefully in the dance the whole body is benefited. When one walks every motor nerve is in action."

'THRILLING FISH STORY'

LONG BEACH, Cal., Dec. 4.—A thrilling fish story is being told by James Harvey and his helper who recently caught a 1095 pound shark between here and Catalina island. The battle lasted for more than an hour, during which their boat was nearly swamped while being towed along at the speed of a fast mail train. Finally the giant was brought to saff and killed with an axe.

CARS START LONG TRIP WITHOUT GAS

PARIS, Dec. 4.—Across the Sahara by motor without gasoline, is the ambition of a French expedition that is now making arrangements for a trip to Konakry, in French Guinea. The proposed route covers 9,000 miles, and two cars will be used. The experiment will be made of running cars on palm oil, nut oil and naptha, supplies of which can be obtained along the way at very little cost.

The head of the expedition is Edmond Tranin, a Paris journalist, and he will be accompanied by Gustave Duvernoy, an engineer, and Doctors Boorke and Warner. Owing to the bearing which the experiment may have on the problem of colonial transport in Africa the Ministry for Colonies has given official recognition to the mission and arranged facilities.

The journey will start about the first of December and the route crosses Africa from Konakry to Jibuti, in the Gulf of Aden, covering desert and wild country. The usual carburetor of each car will be replaced by a catalysing apparatus which will produce combustible gas from heavy oils. The cars have 10 h. p. engines and are fitted with two-seated bodies, with a space for chests and provisions.

SHIP MONEY TO GERMANY

EL CENTRO, Cal., Dec. 4.—Imperial valley folk are doing their bit to sweeten the lives of people in Germany, and they are offering no economic rehabilitation plans to do it either. Recently they shipped 1200 cases of honey to Hamburg with word that there's more where that came from.

See the new Reo Sedan ($1870 delivered here) now on display at 416-18 West 5th.

FORD RUNS 57 MILES ON GALLON OF GASOLINE

A new automatic and self-regulating device has been invented by John A. Stransky, 4489 Fourth St., Pukwana, South Dakota, with which automobiles have made from 35 to 57 miles on a gallon of gasoline. It removes carbon and reduces spark plug trouble and overheating. It can be installed by any one in five minutes. Mr. Stransky wants distributors and is willing to send a sample at his own risk. ## A Red Blood Food For Feeble Old Folks

Doctors say that one of the most frequent causes of feeble, sickly, run-down conditions in old people is thin, pale blood, lacking in strength-building power. In many cases, as people grow older, the iron in the blood is partly used up without being replaced, and even the most nourishing foods will do you little good until you get back the iron, without which the blood cannot be rich, red and strengthening. With plenty of iron in the blood a man or woman may be young, vigorous and healthy at 70 or 80—while at 30 or 40 with a deficient supply of iron people may look and feel 10 to 20 years older than they really are.

For it is the iron in your blood that enables it to change food into firm, healthy tissues and promotes vigorous energy and endurance. And when this supply of iron runs low, nothing you eat does you the proper amount of good. You simply cannot get strength out of it and you grow weak, feeble and sickly, and suffer from various sorts of distressing symptoms and ailments.

In such cases all you need is more iron—organic iron—to give you plenty of the rich red blood and energy that insure you a strong, vigorous, healthy old age. But be sure that you take only true organic iron—Nuxated Iron—not the ordinary mineral iron that people have used in the past. Nuxated Iron is a wonderful new combination of organic iron, like the iron in your own blood, with a powerful, healthy, strengthening tonic that just two weeks and you'll be amazed how much younger and better you feel, and that a marvelous new line of strength and vitality fills your entire being. Nuxated Iron is sold under an absolute guarantee of satisfaction or your money back. At all good druggists.

Pre-Holiday Bridge
At Colonial Club

December's pre-holiday entertaining was ushered in brilliantly yesterday when an extremely colorful bridge luncheon was presented at Colonial club by Mrs. Samuel W. Nau and Mrs. A. F. Zaiser.

Over a hundred invitations had been issued for the function for which the entire club was reserved. Decorations were vivid and many lovely gowns were worn, adding to the charm of the scene. In the receiving line with Mrs. Nau and Mrs. Zaiser were their sisters, Mrs. C. P. Boyer of this city and Mrs. Vern Smith who came here from her Los Angeles home to be present.

Mrs. Nau was gowned in soft beige velvet and georgette with which her crystal beads, set at intervals with tiny topazes, were most effective. Mrs. Zaiser's gown was a lovely, lacey creation in white lace. Mrs. Boyer was in black chiffon velvet beaded in a striking design while Mrs. Smith was girlishly charming in brown velvet with small brown and gold hat.

Assisting in pleasant hostess duties were Mrs. Elmer Crawford who with Mrs. H. C. Wiley moved among the guests on the first floor of the clubhouse, and Mrs. James Willis Rice and Mrs. Boyer who remained in the upstairs drawing room to supervise details of tables and playing there.

The decorative effect was planned by the sister hostesses whose artistic ideas were apparent in the festoons of asparagus plumosities fern at doorways and windows and entwining the stairway. Baskets and quaint pottery bowls filled with verbenas in tints shading from delicate pink to deep red, were used at intervals and the luncheon tables were brilliant indeed, each room having its own color, emphasized in covers, nut-cups and the pretty candles which centered the tables, each in a candlestick covered with fluted crepe paper embodying the entire color scheme. Even the bell with which signals were given from the head table during the bridge sessions was adorned with the rainbow colors.

Twenty-three tables were arranged for bridge, which was introduced after the guests had enjoyed a pleasant interval on the wide porches, on the lawn and in the vine-clad pergola following the delectable two-course luncheon. Four games were played, at the close of which Mrs. Nelson Edgar holding high score, was presented with a set of long-stemmed sherbert glasses in iridescent crystal while Mrs. Susan Rutherford received a pretty flower bowl for second prize and Mrs. Theo Winbiger was amply consoled with a dainty bud-vase in cut crystal.

Among the speakers will be the conference president, Mrs. L. C. Coates, and the conference corresponding secretary, Mrs. George W. Pierson.

The annual public offering service will be held Sunday, December 7, at 11 o'clock a. m., when Mrs. Coates will give the address. The program for yesterday afternoon was in charge of Mrs. Dairs, who was ably assisted by Mesdames Robinson, Albright Taylor and Burns.

UNITED PRESBYTERIAN
The United Presbyterian missionary society met in the church parlors yesterday afternoon and was called to order by the president, Mrs. William Smart.

Devotional service was led by Mrs. J. L. Porter, who read the first chapter of Colossians, and after earnest prayers led by Mrs. W. H. McPeak, Mrs. A. J. McFadden, and Mrs. D. E. Kellogg, the memory verse for the day was repeated in concert.

Annual reports were given by the different officers, secretaries and committees. The thank offering secretary reported that the thank offering had reached $1015, a larger sum than any previous year. The other reports were also encouraging.

Officers for the coming year were elected as follows:

President, Mrs. M. M. Tidball; vice-president, Mrs. W. H. McPeak; secretary, Mrs. June Smiley; treasurer, Mrs. J. T. Raitt; literature secretary, Mrs. C. T. Elisele; thank offering secretary, Mrs. Joe Thompson; temperance secretary, Mrs. R. R. Smith; Little Light Bearers secretary, Miss Rosaline Kellogg.

During the social hour, light refreshments of fruit puffs and tea were served by the entertaining committee consisting of Mrs. William Breckenridge, Mrs. J. L. Porter, Mrs. A. J. Smiley, Miss Adda Cowan and Miss Rosaline Kellogg.

Bazaar Plans

Among the many interesting bazaars which churches and societies are offering before the holidays is that of the Church of Latter Day Saints which will be held tomorrow night at G. A. R. hall, 310 1-2 East Fourth street.

The bazaar will open at 6 o'clock with a cafeteria supper to which the general public is invited. Attractive booths will be arranged around the walls and will contain home-made quilts, aprons, towels and many dainty bits of needlework suitable for Christmas giving.

Amusement booths will also be provided and everyone may be assured of a merry time.

Black Panné Velvet Forms Smart Frock

There's a classic simplicity and a hint of sophistication, too, about this dinner gown of black panné velvet. The drapery is uncomplicated by any other form of trimming and the very wide neckline is one of its distinctly new touches. The back hangs absolutely straight.

Dinner Guests Enjoy Pleasant Evening At Moulton Ranch

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis F. Moulton of El Toro invited a number of old friends last evening to their charming country home to renew acquaintances with Mr. Moulton's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Moulton of San Francisco, who are visiting here this week.

Covers were laid at the beautifully-appointed table for the hosts, their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence S. Crookshank, Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh, Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Paul, Mrs. Ella Campen, and the daughters of the home, the Misses Charlotte and Louis Moulton.

The table was centered with a bowl of snapdragons and ferns, the pastel motif being carried out in the candles, place cards in the shape of Chinese boys and girls and the little silver nut-cups. Condiments found at the places created much merriment, and the evening hours were passed with social chat, a radio program and three delightful solos which Mrs. Slabaugh graciously sang.

Clois' Recipes

Breakfast—Halves of grapefruit, crisp whole wheat toast, broiled ham, potato puffs, spinach molds, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Cream of corn soup, oyster salad, graham bread, sliced oranges, feather cake, milk, tea.

Dinner—Broiled lamb chops, martini potatoes, scalloped tomatoes, pear salad, fried cakes and cheese, whole wheat, rolls, milk, coffee.

Children under 10 years of age will not indulge in the fried cakes and cheese for dinner.

The juice of the grapefruit should be served the children under six years of age one-half hour before breakfast. Then a well-cooked cereal with thin cream, the spinach and potato puffs, milk and toast furnish a hearty breakfast for the juniors that is easily digested.

Oyster Salad
One pint small oysters, 1 cup diced celery, 1/2 cup nut meats, 1 lemon, salad dressing to make moist.

Wash and drain oysters. Scald until plump. Drain and add juice of lemon. Let stand in a cold place or on ice until chilled. Combine with celery, nuts and mayonnaise and serve on a bed of lettuce.

Martini Potatoes
Four large smooth potatoes, 2 tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons cream, 1 egg, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, few drops onion juice.

Scrub potatoes well and bake in a hot oven for one hour. Scoop out inside and mash. Add butter, cream salt and pepper and yolk of egg well beaten. Cook, stirring constantly, for three minutes. Beat white of egg until stiff and dry and fold into mixture. Shape between two buttered spoons. Place on a buttered dripping pan and bake in a hot oven until nicely browned.

Fried Cakes
Two medium-sized potatoes, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 eggs, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup sweet milk, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon grated nutmeg, 1/2 teaspoon salt, flour to roll.

Boil and mash potatoes. Add butter and mix thoroughly. Stir in eggs well beaten and beat in sugar. Mix and sift two cups of flour, salt

Birthday Celebrants of Autumn Months Enjoy Party

Those members of the Woman's Bible class of the First Christian church whose birthdays fall in October, November and December, were in the peculiar position of hosts as well as honor guests at a happily planned party given yesterday in the community house of the church.

Responsible for the financial end of the affair, the celebrants had no further responsibilities, since the entertaining was put into the hands of the north-east section of the Ladies' Aid society. A decorating committee was composed of Mrs. Tucker, Mrs. Coffman and Mrs. Smith and the result of their efforts was beautiful. Christmas was the dominant theme and point-settles blazed from every side while a gay tree with Santa Claus himself, was a striking feature.

Miss Carrie Seaton, Mrs. C. E. Skirvin and Mrs. Roscoe Wilson formed a committee arranging the pleasing program which opened with a piano number played by the Misses Glenda Mae Waggoner and Lizzetta Phillips. This was followed by a violin solo played by little Miss Melody Lantz with her mother at the piano. A violin quartette composed of Miss Helen Lutz, James Workman, Loren Cannon and Earl Clemens was a unique feature followed by a reading by Miss Mary Arnold and a violin duet by Miss Helen Lutz and James Workman with the former's sister as accompanist.

Mrs. Herbert M. Sammis gave a vocal number with Miss Carrie Seaton at the piano and Miss Helen Mott gave a reading. The very enjoyable program was followed by another pleasant feature, the serving of refreshments by a committee composed of Mrs. John Sexton, Mrs. R. R. Miller and Mrs. W. M. Hamilton.

Members and guests in voicing their enjoyment of the entire afternoon's entertainment, were especially appreciative of the kindness of Ollimae Enlow Matthews whose violin pupils gave so great a part of the program and who arranged their numbers and planned for their appearance.

and baking powder and nutmeg and add to mixture. Add more flour. The dough should be as soft as possible to have it roll easily. Roll on a floured molding board, cut with a ring cutter and fry in deep hot lard. Take from fat with a skewer or wire dipper and drain on brown paper.

The fat should be hot enough to brown an inch cube of bread from the soft part of the loaf in 60 seconds.

Fried cakes should come quickly to the top of the fat, brown on one side and then turn to brown on the other. They should be turned once.

FOLEY PILLS REACHED THE SORE SPOT
Mrs. Ellen Reighard, South Fork, Pa., writes: "I had been suffering with my kidneys and nothing seemed to touch the aching spot until I procured FOLEY PILLS, with wonderful results."

FOLEY PILLS, a diuretic stimulant for the kidneys, gently and thoroughly flush and cleanse the kidneys and help to eliminate poisonous waste matter. Try a bottle today and you will be well pleased with the relief obtained. The use of FOLEY PILLS increases kidney activity.—Sold everywhere.—Adv.

"Messiah" Personnel Given Surprise Supper

It certainly isn't all work and no play for the principals and chorus of the First M. E. church choir in their preparations for the vespers service of "The Messiah" which they will offer Sunday afternoon, December 21 as a Christmas feature.

Despite the fact that rehearsals are frequent and taxing, the singers have many a happy hour together when social pleasures prevail. Among these was a surprise which followed their last Sunday afternoon of vigorous practice on the part of the entire cast. For when the singers were dismissed the members of the music committee bade them linger and later escorted them to the basement dining-room where an enjoyable Sunday night supper was spread.

Singing the four principal roles in "The Messiah" will be Huldah Dietz, Cecil Fross Willets, Leon Eckols and James Hughes. In addition there will be a chorus of approximately fifty voices. The presentation will be at 4 o'clock on Sunday afternoon, December 21.

Parent-Teachers

Tonight at Isaacson hall, 2142 South Main street, the Elison school P. T. A. will hold a lively affair with contests, a program and a box supper. Each member attending is asked to bring a box supper for two and the proceeds of the box sale will all be applied on the purchase price of a new piano for the school.

Many merry features are being planned by the committee in charge which urges a full attendance of members and friends.

Piano Recital

When Miss Leonore Tompkins presents a group of her piano pupils in recital Saturday night at the First Christian church auditorium the young pianists will be assisted by a number of expression pupils of Miss Holly Lash and a quartette arranged by Elwood Bear and composed of Emma Lena Richards, Clara Kate Owens, Ralph Greer and Jack Garraway. The program will begin at 7:30 o'clock and a cordial invitation is extended to any music lovers to attend.

Pet dogs can now be fixed up with false teeth, artificial eyes and limbs.

Claims Fortune As Recluse's Son

SANTA BARBARA, Dec. 4.—George G. King, recluse, apparently without wife, children or worldly goods, was found dead in his shack at Lompoc the other day, but his estate has just been appraised as worth $250,000. And now George Montgomery King of Reno and Goldfield, Nev., claims to be a son of the dead man. Friends who have known him for years, and brothers and sisters, declare he was never married.

PLAN APPROPRIATION FOR ELIMINATION OF PRINCIPAL 'DEATH CURVES' ON HIGHWAY

Expenditure of $255,000 for the elimination of two "death traps" on the state highway to San Diego may be included in the 1925 budget of the state highway commission, it became known here today, following an inspection of state highways in Orange county yesterday by Nels T. Edwards, member of the commission, C. V. Cortleyou, division engineer, and a group of newspaper men.

The dangerous points are in San Diego county, immediately south of the Orange county line. One is at San Mateo creek, where two men lost their lives last week by the driver failing to negotiate the sharp turn in the highway as it descends to the bottom of the creek. The car plunged over the embankment and dropped fifty or seventy-five feet.

The second elimination will be made at San Onofre, where exists a situation similar to that at San Mateo. At both points the highway makes an abrupt turn on bluffs and accidents happen by failure of drivers to slow down for the curves. On both creeks the danger point is on the west side, the side approached on the southward journey. Approaches from the east are not so dangerous.

Cortleyou announced that he had made surveys and prepared estimates of costs for correction of the condition at both points by re-routing the highway straight across the creeks. The heavy expense, he said, would be in the erection of two bridges, one of 400 feet, and the other of 250 feet, the two structures costing $200,000. Cuts and fills necessary for approaches to the two bridges would cost $55,000, he estimated.

Correcting Errors
Edwards pointed out that the present highway commission has spent and is spending large amounts in correction of errors made when the state highway system was originally laid out.

An extensive program of changes in the coast boulevard between Oceanside and San Diego city limits has been under way for some months and completion is expected within a few days. When completed the correction will have cost approximately $601,000 according to the engineer in charge.

The work consisted of widening to 30 feet for a distance of 16.6 miles, 13.5 miles of twenty-foot pavement was constructed, including the widening and thickening of the old fifteen-foot pavement, and the construction of an entirely new pavement where alignment was changed to eliminate curves.

Several important line changes were included in the improvement which have eliminated dangerous railroad grade crossings and numerous sharp curves. One of the most prominent line changes occurring between Encinitas and Cardiff. Here the old highway was abandoned and the Santa Fe railroad moved over to provide a roadway for the new pavement along the ocean front, thus eliminating the dangerous grade crossing at Encinitas as well as the one at Cardiff.

Relocations Made
Relocations have been made at Carlsbad and Del Mar for the purpose of eliminating two other grade crossings. These changes, however, require special structures to carry the highway across the tracks at a different elevation, which work will be done under separate contract in the near future.

In order to accommodate the widening of the graded roadway, culverts on the section were lengthened by a day labor crew in advance of the contractors operations. Edwards and his party drove over the coast route in Orange county from Serra to Escondido, inspecting the grading work that is being done between Laguna Beach and Newport Beach and the paving recently completed between Newport Beach and Huntington Beach. W. D. McCray has the contract for the work between Laguna and Newport and it is expected that he will complete the job in duchess, more or less content with things as they are, holds to the present.

Lady Astor, keenly alive, studies personalities and, therefore, gathers at her table men and women ranging from the king and queen and prince of Wales to the latest brainy young workman who has forged his way to the top in the political Labor movement. The duchess is more content in her study.

Lady Astor sparkles in conversation. The duchess sits at home and writes a military history of Perthshire.

In many ways the duchess was predestined for such a post as Baldwin has assigned her. Her father, Sir James Ramsay of Banff, an old Scotch baronet, is a well-known historian, having written the story of the Angevin kings and other similar books. Her uncle, Professor Gilbert Ramsay, is also a well-known historian and Latin scholar.

Her interest in history was heightened also by the fact that her husband lived it. When he was the Marquis of Tullibardine, he fought valiantly in the South African war and his wife went to Capetown to be as near him as possible. In the World War he was a soldier's partner. So it isn't surprising that she wrote the story of the military history of Perthshire where her husband owns thousands of acres.

She is fitted for the ministerial post, too, by reason of the fact that for five years she has been a member of the Perthshire Educational Authority, and vice president of the Association of Educational Authorities of Scotland. How seriously she takes her new job is evidenced by this miniature interview:

"I shall try to end my work at 11 at night, if possible."

"My tasks will completely wipe out my social engagements."

"They will also keep me away from Scotland a great deal and will necessitate my resigning from many parliamentary committees."

"I shall do my utmost to help the work of education, but the problems will be somewhat new. I am familiar with Scotch educational problems, but my government post only has to do with English school matters."

Call Off Strike After Two Years

SCRANTON, Pa., Dec. 4.—After striking for more than two years, members of the Boilermakers' Union here today voted to call off the walkout at the Lackawanna railroad shops and ask to be allowed to return to their jobs. It was said by one officer that the men had reached the conclusion that they have been waging a losing fight.

There are 2,000 other Lackawanna shopmen still on strike, with their places having been filled months ago by the railway company.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—Morris W. Fry may have been a good veterinarian but he certainly wasn't a physician, Mrs. Nina Fry declared in a divorce complaint on file today.

Mrs. Fry said she cut herself one day and asked her husband to call a doctor.

"I used to treat cows out on the farm and I'll take care of you," her spouse replied.

When she proceeded to rub a quantity of salt in the wound, which caused her "much trouble and anguish."

Rebellious Youth— Today it's a wise Parent who knows his own Child

JUDGE LINDSEY speeded up. Youth has kept pace. You and your generation have stood still. Youth is in the saddle, but it has not yet learned to control its fiery steed. Youth, intoxicated with the heady wine of independence, is riding to a fall that will shake this nation to its very foundations if it is not checked in time.

Judge Ben B. Lindsey Tells You the Facts
Denver is a typical American city. What is going on among the youth of Denver is going on in exactly the same degree right here at home.

Already the revolt of youth in Denver which is like the revolt of youth everywhere, threatens changes in our social and family life. The exact details of the manner in which they are questioning the institution of marriage and our social code may surprise you but you cannot doubt their truth. They come from no less an authority than Judge Ben B. Lindsey, who knows what he is talking about.

Judge Lindsey, for twenty-five years Judge of the Juvenile Court of Denver, Colo., says "I am in constant confidential touch with scores of boys and girls of high school age; they tell me things; and they don't stop with themselves. From any ordinary case, selected at random, I can uncover a thousand."

Why Children Fear to Tell Their Parents

A sweet and beautiful high school girl from one of Denver's most respected families summed up the situation thus: "You see, Judge," she said, "after freely admitting acts that would have sent her parents into nervous breakdown, 'they don't know much about us. They think they do, but they don't, and it wouldn't do to tell them.' I wouldn't have them know for the world what I have been telling you, because all the kids would get expelled!"

Facts from Actual Cases
He deals in facts, facts and more facts. He quotes real cases. You cannot doubt the unbelievable things he shows you because the proof is there too plain, too positive to be denied.

But he goes further. He does more than paint a terrible picture. He points out the remedy—explains the methods that he himself has developed during twenty-five years of dealing with rebellious youth, methods that have been gloriously successful.

As a parent, a teacher, a responsible citizen, you owe it to yourself, to your children, to posterity, to read "The Revolt of Modern Youth" by Judge Ben B. Lindsey.

It is the privilege of Physical Culture to place Judge Ben B. Lindsey's great series before you—the handwriting on the wall that will warn a nation. "The Revolt of Modern Youth" begins in the December issue now on the newsstands.

TAX REFORM IS URGED BY SEC. MELLON

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Congress must act swiftly to reform the present tax law for "the importance of getting our taxing system on a sound basis is not a subject which with safety for our future can be long postponed," Secretary of the Treasury Mellon declared in his annual report to congress today.

America's business and industrial outlook is "more favorable for sound and orderly economic development than at any time since the war," said Mellon, but revenues are dwindling, new ways of tax evasion are being devised, tax-exempt securities are multiplying and the national government faces a serious situation.

"It is clear that we must look carefully to the productivity of existing taxes and to their economic stability if we are to have further tax reduction and if we are not to be forced in less prosperous times to actual tax increases," the treasury secretary said.

Hits at High Taxes
"The attention of congress should be directed principally to the excessive surtax rates and to the confiscatory estate tax rates. The gift tax is unworkable and unduly hampers legitimate business. The publicity provision in the revenue law, in my opinion, is a mistake of policy and will be detrimental to the revenue."

Mellon recommended that the maximum surtax rate be fixed between 15 and 25 per cent, which, with a normal tax of six per cent, would make the maximum tax between 21 and 31 per cent instead of 46 per cent at present. "What the exact rate of maximum of profit may be is a matter of judgment," he said.

"Taxation should not be used as a field for socialistic experiment, or as a club to punish success, but as a means of raising revenue to support the government." It has been the belief of the treasury secretary, and it is borne out by experience, that, if taxes are too high, the source of revenue diminishes and the tax becomes less and less productive. If taxes are reduced, the source of taxation expands and the lower rate may be even more productive than the higher rate and the source of revenue assured for the future.

Business initiative is now blighted by high taxes, the veteran financier declared.

"The law now says to the man of large income: 'If you lose on your venture, you will pay 100 per cent of the loss; if you win, the law will take 50 per cent of your profit,'" he said. "These are not the odds which encourage adventure or the production of income which will yield its revenue to the government. No man will continue to sow where he cannot reap."

"We have then the blighting effect of excessive rates, which compel avoidance, and destroy initiative, and by both means, diminish the returns from the upper brackets, from which the government has been taking a large part of its revenue."

The nation must look to its foreign as well as its domestic trade, too, Mellon said because adoption of the Dawes plan presages industrial activities among our European competitors, and "if we are to compete successfully abroad we must be sure that our taxation system does not put too heavy a handicap on our industry and trade."

Mellon attacked the economic philosophy of the "high surtax bloc" which would shift the burden of taxation to the rich.

"The argument is made that the wealthy should bear substantially the whole burden," he said, "but it is impossible for the government to live by taxing the wealthy alone. . . . It may be truly said that the man with small income is more interested than are the wealthy themselves in seeing that the tax upon high incomes and large estate is economically sound."

"With all the world opening to investment, with new tax-exempt securities being issued at the rate of more than $1,000,000,000 a year, and with other means of escaping, the wealthy need no guarantee. But to the extent that they are encouraged and do avoid taxation, the burden will inevitably be shifted to those with small or moderate incomes."

"The government must live. The inevitable result of uneconomic taxation is to raise the price level so that 97 per cent of the people of the country, who pay no income tax directly, must make their payments indirectly in what they buy. They, too, are vitally interested."

Mellon argued strongly for a much more simpler tax law on the ground that congress had overreached itself in seeking to check the inevitable search of highly-taxed capital for methods of evasion by an intricate system of barriers. The present revenue laws are so complex, he said, that the government finds difficulty in enforcing them.

"Taxation in America is not the simple question of garnering a tithe of the product of a purely agricultural people," he said. "We are notably ingenious in finding ways and means to accomplish our purposes. We are becoming experienced in investments outside the country where the federal tax collector's hand does not reach."

"The solution of the problem is not in passing more laws but in adopting law, with more reason. A reasonable rate of tax will make elaborate extensive methods of avoidance unprofitable. A reasonable rate of tax will make the administration of the tax laws more simple of accomplishment."

Flays Tax Exempt Securities
In this connection, Mellon reviewed his recommendation that congress vote a constitutional amendment prohibiting the issuance of tax-exempt securities, which he believed this remedy would be too slow and urged that the alternative—reducing taxes so that tax-exempts were not so attractive—became out immediately.

ASKS TAX CUT

Mellon scored the publicity provision in the present law saying: "It is wholly unnecessary," and declaring "we may promptly expect renewed use of many means of tax avoidance." He recommended its repeal.

Of the general situation, Mellon said:

"With other nations of the world we are just emerging from that most difficult period of readjustment which is the inevitable aftermath of a great war. We are perhaps the first nation able now to present reasonable assurances that we have come through successfully."

"Various theories inconsistent with economic laws have been advanced as remedies to this or that feature of our system."

"The sober judgment of a great majority of our people has in the election just passed repudiated these theories and expressed itself in favor of a constructive and orderly program of handling our government affairs. . . . There lie before us, if we approach them with intelligence, years of prosperous and healthy conditions such as succeeded the election of 1896. We have already made much progress in this direction."

Pointing to the great reduction in public expenditures since the war and the reduction of the public debt by $5,343,000,000 between August 31, 1919 and June 30, 1924, Mellon said:

"These accomplishments have placed the government's finances on a sound footing and with the tax reform which must ultimately come, the burden on private business and credit should grow progressively smaller. The urgent need is for constant guard against additional undertakings or outlays which might interfere with the orderly program of debt retirements or make additional taxes necessary."

ALASKA TOWN IS DAMAGED BY BIG STORM

KODIAK, Alaska, Dec. 4.—The town of Kanatak, at the entrance to the "Inland Oil Trail" was practically demolished. Thanksgiving day by a terrific storm, according to reports reaching here today.

Every building in the town either was razed or seriously damaged by wind and tide, and boats in the harbor were hurled high on the shore with the force of the sea.

For two days the storm raged. Many houses and stores were completely washed away and others were blown down by the ninety-mile gale. On the second day as the storm spent itself, Kanatak, once a thriving place of wood, had become a city of ruins.

Food stores were saved and little immediate suffering from the disaster was reported. There was no loss of life, according to word received here.

Rum Discovery Leads to Death

PETALUMA, Cal., Dec. 4.—The death of Henry Renaud, president of the Petaluma National bank Saturday, was reported today to have been caused from shock at being discovered with a case of whiskey in his automobile.

Federal dry agents stopped the car in which Renaud and H. J. Dado, Petaluma merchant, were returning from a duck hunt and discovered the whiskey. Renaud became hysterical and died two hours later.

Bill Collector Causes Suicide

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—D. M. Stephens, a grocer, was dead here today, having committed suicide because a bill collector asked him to settle an account.

The collector called at Stephens' store and presented a small bill. The grocer excused himself for a moment, went to a rear room and slashed his throat with a razor.

Chamber Delegates Select Seattle

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—Delegates to the midyear meeting of the western division of the United States chamber of commerce, which met here, were scattering to their homes today, after voting to request congress to aid in protecting California's forests against fire.

The organization will work through the national chamber, seeking fire protection and reforestation aid as well.

Next year's convention will be held in Seattle, it was voted before adjournment last night.

COMPROMISE ON BOULDER DAM TO BE FOUGHT

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—That Imperial Valley and Southern California will accept no compromise on the Colorado River dam project at Boulder Canyon was brought out at a meeting here yesterday, called by Governor James G. Scruggs of Nevada.

Governor Scruggs and a commission appointed by the Nevada legislature attempted to have them on a plan to ask congress to build a low dam at Boulder Canyon on a $30,000,000 appropriation. The committee from Nevada wished to have the dam built so it could be raised to a height of 600 feet. They stated that a number of officials at Washington had assured them such a move would have much greater chance of passing this congress than the big project.

Imperial Valley residents led the attack against the change by saying that section had spent a large amount of money for the campaign and surveying and would not back down now. They said they had the assurance of Chairman Addison T. Smith of the arid lands committee that the bill would be reported out this session and they did not regard its case as hopeless by any means.

COX FUNERAL ON WEDNESDAY IS IMPRESSIVE

Funeral services for the late Justice John B. Cox were conducted from the Smith and Tutill funeral chapel yesterday afternoon. Scores of friends of the famous justice were present to pay their final tribute to one of the outstanding characters of Orange county's history, and although the services were of a simple nature, much on the order as his entire life had been, there was a current feeling that no ordinary personage had passed on.

Among the scores of people who gathered, filling the entire chapel and crowding out into the yards, were many of the most prominent citizens of the county. Floral offerings were banked high and low around the flag draped casket.

The Rev. W. L. H. Benton, pastor of the Church of the Messiah, officiated at the services which were in charge of the Santa Ana lodge No. 241. Free and Accepted Masons. The funeral procession from the chapel to Fairhaven cemetery, where burial was made, was led by eight state, county and city motorcycle officers.

Attorney Clyde Bishop, one of Orange county's most able speakers paid high tribute to Justice Cox in a short eulogy delivered during the services. His words of praise for the former justice moved many to tears, the sadness of the occasion adding to the show of grief throughout the chapel.

Mr. Bishop ended his eulogy by quoting from "Thanatopsis."

MECHANIC'S LIEN ACT CLEARED UP

DENVER, Nov. 21.—A new interpretation of the mechanic's lien statute, which wipes out a former opinion, was handed down by the Colorado supreme court.

The decision, which reverses a ruling by Judge Hollenbeck in the Denver district court, clears up the uncertainty heretofore existing regarding the time limit within which suit must be filed under a mechanic's lien. The new interpretation is that a material man may begin suit any time within six months after the last material was furnished, or any time within six months after the completion of the building.

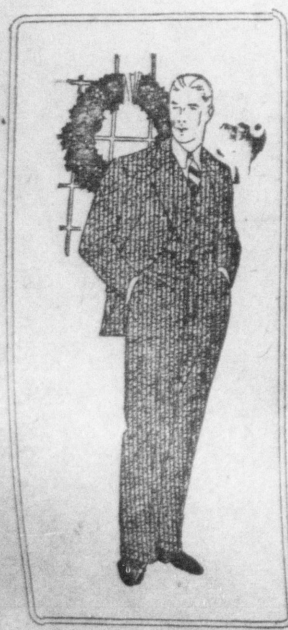

The statute provides that no lien shall hold longer than six months after the last work or labor is performed, or materials furnished, or after the completion of the building.

AROUND THE COURTHOUSE

Brief News of Courts and County Officers

Emmett H. Bovee was plaintiff in a suit on file in the superior court today to foreclose a mechanic's lien of $80 against property at Newport Beach. C. W. Seeber and C. O. Neese were named defendants in the suit.

Declared to be delinquent to the extent of $831.59, with alimony payments, C. T. Waller was today scheduled to receive a hearing before Superior Judge Z. B. West Friday at 2 p. m. with the possibility of being punished for contempt of court.

Some months ago Waller was ordered to make monthly payments to Mrs. Alma Waller, who complained that he was $831.59 in arrears. Judge West thereupon issued the order citing Waller into court to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt, and required to pay the delinquent alimony.

A black eye, boasts of conquests of other women, and other indignities, physical and mental, were the lot of Mrs. Grace La Zalde, as the wife of Gilberto La Zalde, she alleged in a divorce suit on file in the superior court today.

Cruelty and non-support were the charges elaborated upon by Mrs. La Zalde in her complaint. While they were living in Los Angeles before coming to Santa Ana, La Zalde blacked his wife's eye during a quarrel, it was claimed. He sought the society of other women and spent his money on them instead of providing for his family, according to the complaint.

Attorney Kenneth H. Burns represents Mrs. La Zalde.

Superior Judge R. Y. Williams late yesterday awarded the W. F. Lutz company judgment for the full amount of a $929.75 claim against I. C. Stearns, who did not contest the case. Judgment also included interest and $200 attorney fees. Alfred Appling was attorney for the plaintiff.

Suit based on several assigned claims had been filed today in the superior court by the Orange County Credit association against F. W. Harmon. Total judgment of $437.47 was asked. Attorneys Kaufman and Martell representing the plaintiffs. Three local business firms had assigned claims to the credit association.

An appeal by Charles Mitchell, of Pasadena, from a $202 judgment won by Percy L. Bradford in Fullerton justice court recently was today on file in the superior court. Bradford, represented by Attorney Roland Thompson of Santa Ana, was given judgment by Justice William French in connection with a claim for wiring a house at Placentia. Attorney Guss Hagenstein appealed on behalf of Mitchell.

Judgment for $1390.75 in favor of the Appling Collection company, of this city, and against James E. Drake Jr., was on file today in the superior court, following a decision late yesterday by Judge F. C. Drumm on the collection company's suit. The judgment included $1000 principal on an unpaid note, $183 interest and $200 attorney fees.

Dispute over title to a $25,000 ranch at Yorba was renewed today in the superior court between heirs of the late owner, Jesus Ruiz, when an action to set aside a deed held by Eduardo Ruiz and Francisca Ruiz, was filed by other children of the deceased, including Ida Reyes, Albertina Baezquez, Carmen Bojorquez, Blanch Yorba, Lelia Castilla, Juan Padilla and Ruth Padilla, the two last named being grand children of Jesus Ruiz.

The plaintiffs allege that Ruiz who deeded the eight acres to Eduardo Ruiz and Francisca Ruiz before his death in 1908, intended that the property should be held by them in trust for all the heirs. It has been appropriated, instead to their private use, the complaint charges.

Attorney Kenneth H. Burns represents the plaintiffs.

A tri-county agreement for erection and maintenance of a tuberculosis sanitarium in Riverside county today stood formally ratified by Orange county, as one of the parties to the agreement.

Presented before the board of supervisors late yesterday by the sanitarium board of control, the contract receive approval. Riverside and Imperial counties are the other parties interested. Supervisor William Schumacher is the local member of the board of control.

Loser in his attempt to secure release on a writ of habeas corpus, a move accomplished by several other prisoners facing similar charges, John Hendry, of Fullerton, was still in the Fullerton jail today.

Hendry, it is said, was one of the prisoners taken in the recent county-wide liquor raids. He claimed he had been refused the privilege of consulting an attorney. Six liquor sales were charged against Hendry.

Superior Judge R. Y. Williams late yesterday heard Hendry's application, filed through Attorneys Ames and McFadden, of Anaheim, but denied the writ.

The Southland Sailing club, with headquarters at Balboa, today had a copy of its articles of incorporation on file with the county clerk. Among the 12 directors are three Orange county men: V. S. Rowley, of Santa Ana, Haines W. Reed and H. Bay Webster, of Balboa.

Articles of incorporation for the Moon Track company, of Fullerton, were on file today with the county clerk, showing the concern to be capitalized at $150,000. Lotie E. Moore and J. R. Gardiner, of Fullerton, and R. W. Moon, of Los Angeles, are the directors. The company specializes in the manufacture of tracks for axle-driven tractors.

Mr. and Mrs. James M. Weitenmann, of this city, had emerged winners today in their court battle with D. C. Kent and Charles Ryel, cement workers, over a disputed claim for foundations and sidewalks laid on the Weitenmann property.

Superior Judge R. Y. Williams hearing the case late yesterday denied the suit of Kent and Ryel for payment for their work. The Weitenmanns charged that the work was defective and would have to be done over. They had paid $75 and would have to pay $200 for the new job, they alleged. The court gave them judgment for $275.

Completion of the general contract for building the new county jail, the contract having been formally accepted by the county board of supervisors, today called attention to the nearly finished state of the new structure.

The contract of Chris McNeill, builder of the new bastille, was accepted as complete when presented before the supervisors yesterday.

Today. Action was taken with the approval of Architect Frank Benches.

Various sub-contracts providing for interior fittings and fixtures remain to be completed. The greatest task remaining ahead is the installation of cell equipment.

MANY BAD EYES.

Tests of autoists at the Canadian National Exposition in Toronto showed that 41 per cent of the drivers fell below standard. One driver was shown to have only 25 per cent of normal vision.

SILENT MOTORCYCLES.

Great Britain conducted tests near London of motorcycles with all sorts of silencers. The cause is an effort to silence motorcycle engines.

CALIFORNIA'S REAL ESTATE IS SURVEYED

President H. Robert Ennis of the National Association of Real Estate Boards who in the last nine months has traveled close to 50,000 miles visiting the realty boards of the United States and Canada has just written a letter to President Everett A. White, of the California Real Estate Association, reviewing real estate conditions and realty boards in California.

President Ennis attended the state convention and later visited many loyal boards in California. The letter in part says:

"My trip through the state I shall never forget. Everywhere I was received most kindly, each board trying to make my visit an event. The type of men I met all over the state and the fine boards of which these men are a part means much for the future of the real estate business and to the great state of California."

"There is an opportunity in California that no other state offers. With a climate unusually pleasant, wonderfully productive, and inhabited by happy wholesome people, the California Real Estate Association should move on with much greater power for good than it even now possesses."

"The inspiration I received has been very helpful, and I beg to assure you that the hospitality of the realtors of California has left me in a debt of gratitude which I can never repay. Keep up the good work—build up the local boards—and when it is realized that this can be done only through close cooperation with the state and national association, then will your days be days of pleasantness and all your paths be peace."

SOBS 36 HOURS

LONDON, Dec. 3.—All world's records for long-distance weeping have been broken by Mary Chandler, 26, who was arrested and imprisoned for stealing a fur coat out of a hotel lobby here. She cried continuously for 36 hours, according to her jailers. She slept only fitfully in that time, whimpering even in her slumbers.

HERE'S REAL DRAMA
TOKYO, Dec. 3.—"Ah, hah, me proud beauty—at last I have you in my grasp!" shrielled the villain in a three-act melodrama at the Daikoku theater. "Here, that's enough of that!" warned Shigezo Todoroki a carpenter, from his box. When the villain proceeded to molest the beautiful heroine, Todoroki leaped upon the stage and attacked him. Police quelled the disturbance.

PICKLES POPULAR

BERLIN, Dec. 3.—Pickles in compact, ornamental boxes are enjoying a huge sale throughout Berlin. Instead of bringing boxes of candy to their sweethearts, Berlin young men are carrying these boxes of pickles. Special pickle shops have sprung up in all parts of the city.

BUILDING FOR YEAR NOW IS NEARING TWO MILLION MARK

November Total Is $118,750, Bringing Year's Mark to $1,937,061

ISSUE PERMIT FOR FLAT

Musselman Plans Erection of $30,000 Store Building, on East Fourth St.

Building permits for the month just past totaled $118,750 in value, according to figures compiled by Inspector W. S. Decker. The year to date aggregate is now $1,937,061. Of the permits granted, 15 were for homes and four for business structures.

A permit was granted yesterday for the erection of a $16,000 four-flat building and a garage and apartments structure at 429 South Birch street. The owner is J. W. Scott of 1004 West Camille street, who has awarded the contract to Bright Brothers of 1111 East First street.

Both buildings will be of frame and stucco construction. The flat will occupy ground space 40x54 feet. Work is scheduled to start at once.

Frank Musselman, who plans the erection of a $30,000 three-story store and room building at 320 East Fourth street, announced today that the brick contract had been let to Livingstone & Walters. The structure will be 25x120 feet. The basement is already excavated. N. L. Galbraith has the general contract.

A six-room residence and a garage are planned for 807 Garfield street by Roy Russell of Third and Sycamore streets. The cost is estimated at $6000.

Honer, Horzig & Farney of 713 South Van Ness street plan the construction of a $5500 dwelling at 2404 Santiago street. The house will have six rooms.

Frank Calkins of 809 Garfield street will build a $4000 residence at 807 Garfield street. The building will be of frame and stucco construction.

Bids for New Water Well Are Submitted

Bids for the drilling of a water well on the municipal sewer farm southwest of the city have been opened and will be considered by the city council Monday night.

J. E. Otto and J. H. Mefford were the only bidders. Their bids were as follows: Otto, $2951.50; alternative, $3212.50; Mefford, $3012.50; alternative, $2982.50.

Laying of 4400 feet of 12-inch concrete pipe to the well is well under way, City Engineer W. G. Knox states.

EL TORO HUSBAND FILES SUIT AGAIN

Making a second attempt to secure a divorce, after his first proceedings had been barred by lack of residence qualifications, Elmer Coulter, of El Toro, today had another suit on file in the superior court against his wife, Margarette Coulter.

As in the first complaint, brought some months ago, Coulter described his wife as a would-be "hammer slayer." She threatened to kill him with a hammer at the time of their separation last April 9, he declared.

Coulter named Chester Belvin as a factor in the breaking up of his home. His wife spent much of her time in Belvin's company and told her husband, he said, that she intended to leave him for Belvin. She has been seen with the latter since separating from her husband, it was said.

Mrs. Coulter not only neglected her husband, he claimed, but also her little 3-year-old daughter, who while left home alone on one occasion fell into an excavation in the yard and remained there during a heavy rain until her plight was noted by neighbors, who rescued her.

The Coulters were married in Oklaheka county, Oklahoma, July 17, 1920. Coulter's first petition for divorce was dismissed by his attorney, Kenneth Burns, when Coulter revealed, on the witness stand in court, that he had not yet lived in California a year.

BANS TELEPHONES

LONDON, Dec. 4.—Constant ringing of telephone bells disturbs office efficiency, according to Walter Brown, toy manufacturer. Brown has entirely dispensed with telephones in his office and employs a large fleet of boys to carry messages to different parts of the city.

FINE NEW BUILDINGS NEAR COMPLETION ON FIRST ST.

Large strides are being made in the business development of First street. The upper photograph shows the Bowman and Preble building at First and Lacy streets, which will be occupied by a drug store and public market. The lower picture shows the combined business and apartment building owned by Mrs. Estella Wilson, who is contemplating adding three more stories to the two-story structure now nearing completion. Both buildings shown above will be ready for occupancy within a week or 10 days.

Distribution of 'Red' Literature Leads to Arrests

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—Twenty-one men arrested in a raid on the Embarcadero were held in jail here today suspected of having distributed alleged seditious literature among high school students. Bail was fixed at $1,000 each, and the men will be held for identification by high school teachers and pupils. Charges of violating the criminal syndicalism act will be filed against those identified as having distributed inflammatory literature, police authorities announced.

Oregon Defeats Oxford Debators

EUGENE, Ore., Dec. 4.—The University of Oregon defeated Oxford university at debate here last night, winning a popular decision on the affirmative side of the question: "Resolved, That the Referendum is a Desirable part of Representative Government."

Oxford's team was composed of Malcolm MacDonald, son of ex-Premier MacDonald, Captain J. D. Woodruff and M. A. Hollis. The Oregon team included Paul Patterson, Joseph Frazer and Walter Malcolm.

Yucatan Divorces Void In California

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—California does not recognize divorces granted in Yucatan. Such is the ruling of Judge George Buck, of Stockton, sitting here, in a case involving the legality of divorces granted in the southern republic.

Since the Yucatan divorce law does not require the plaintiff to notify the other party, decrees obtained there "are against public policy and without force and effect in California," Judge Buck ruled.

FABRIC BODIES SHOWN.

Four-wheel brakes and fabric bodies were on exhibition at the French auto show. The fabric body especially is being produced for the small, light car, the kind made for two, three or four passengers.

California Booklets Are Prepared

Done in the highest degree of the printer's art, 40,000 booklets descriptive of out of door life in California, today were available at eastern points to those who may be interested in the state. The books were put out by the Union Pacific as a means of stimulating interest in California, according to C. S. Browne, local district agent for the railway company.

Colored and uncolored pictures are presented of some of the recreational points of the state, and these, added to the terse descriptive matter, should arouse a keen interest in the state by those who may have a desire to become residents.

"California appeals to every person who seeks recreation out of doors at any season of the year," reads the introductory article.

"The lure of our westernmost state is in its infinite variety. Diverse in everything, topography, climate, peoples, California has that which stimulates the spirit of play in every American."

RIVER BRIDGE FOR L. B.-H. B. LINK IS URGED

LONG BEACH, Dec. 4.—Difficulties in the way of rebuilding the bridge across the Santa Ana river for the Pacific Electric railway to make direct connection between Long Beach and Santa Ana are likely to be overcome. Officials of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce today expressed confidence in the results of a conference held at Los Angeles on Monday in which the different interests were represented.

The bridge in question was destroyed by flood about four years ago, interrupting Pacific Electric trolley service westward out of Santa Ana. The railroad company, it officials revealed yesterday, has been anxious to put the bridge in again, but encountered certain obstacles as to grades which have never been smoothed out.

Since the recent inauguration of trolley service between Long Beach and Huntington Beach on the Pacific Electric, the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce has been working to re-establish the service to Santa Ana. In this Huntington Beach interests have strongly co-operated and the Santa Ana interests are united on the move.

Committee Confers

The Public Utilities committee of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce, headed by Walter Barber, its chairman, and accompanied by Ray Baldwin, assistant secretary of the chamber, conferred yesterday with O. A. Smith, passenger agent for the Pacific Electric railway, at his offices. Both Santa Ana and Huntington Beach were represented at the meeting. Mr. Smith made it plain that the company had desired to put in a bridge some time ago. A work order for the job had even been issued, Mr. Smith said, but the question of a clearance grade above the water level had not been satisfactorily adjusted with the Orange county authorities so the matter had been allowed to rest.

The discussion brought out points by which it was felt the requirements could be met and the company and county interests reconciled.

FAT MATRIMONIAL FOE

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—Fat women have slimmer chances in the matrimonial sweepstakes nowadays than ever before, according to Emily Lloyd, beauty specialist, in an address here. Chocolate eclairs soft pedal the wedding march, she said, and rich salads push "the love nest for two" into obscurity.

REPORT PLANS FOR ERECTION OF BUILDINGS ON FIRST ST.

Five-story Block on Corner of Sycamore Street Being Considered

TO HAVE FIVE FLOORS

Fine Structure on Lacy Street Now Is Nearing Completion

Confident that the business center of Santa Ana is to spread along First street, property owners on that thoroughfare today were discussing plans for the erection of business structures on both East and West First street, according to "advance information" given by local contractors and builders.

One of the plans was disclosed by Mrs. Estella Wilson of 120 South Sycamore street, who owns all property facing on Sycamore from First street to Walnut street and the frontage of half the block on First street from Sycamore toward Broadway.

Mrs. Wilson at present is considering the erection of a five-story business building at the southwest corner of First and Sycamore streets. Tentative plans call for construction of three stories at this corner next year. The other two stories are to be added later. The building will be of brick.

At the rear of the site for the proposed five-story structure, a two-story building now is nearing completion, at 206-208 West First street. The foundation for this building was laid substantially enough to support five stories, and Mrs. Wilson already has announced her intention to add more floors as rapidly as conditions justify.

Apartments Above

The lower floor contains two store-rooms, one of which will be occupied by the B. R. Ford Construction company and the Santa Ana Rock and Gravel company. The other store has not yet been leased. The second story will have modern housekeeping rooms with hardwood floors, tiled bathrooms and kitchenettes and many up-to-date features.

The brick building has a frontage of 40 feet and is 50 feet long. The total construction costs will aggregate nearly $18,000.

At the corner of First and Lacy streets the construction firm of Bowman and Preble is completing its own attractive and substantial building. This structure is one story tall with a frontage of 60 feet on Lacy street and 75 feet on East First street. The building is constructed of reinforced concrete with brick veneer on one side and stucco on the other, and with cement floors inside.

The corner section will be occupied by the drug store of E. P. Dyche and the remainder of the building will accommodate a new branch of the Seldel market. Construction costs will approximate $10,000. The building will be ready for occupancy within a week or 10 days.

Pan-American Invades Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—Invasion of the San Francisco bay trade field by the Pan-American Petroleum corporation, controlled by E. L. Doheny, is under way, according to Frank Labelle, general manager of service stations for the corporation.

The company has appropriated $1,500,000 to build storage tanks, warehouses, garages, office buildings, pipe lines, piers and service stations in San Francisco, Oakland and vicinity and will be in active competition in the sale of gasoline and oil within four months, according to La Belle.

Movie Star Sues For Second Divorce

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—Mrs. Beth Sully Evans, first wife of Douglas Fairbanks, screen star, was to appear in superior court here today, seeking a divorce from James Evans, Jr. Desertion and non-support is the charge.

The couple married in New York not long after her divorce from Fairbanks. Mrs. Evans is the daughter of Daniel Sully, former cotton king.

London elementary schools now receive their lessons by radio on two afternoons a week.

ENTERPRISE PUBLISHING CO. RECEIVES BIG SHIPMENT OF MACHINERY AND EQUIPMENT

As indicative of the size and scope of the business its officers and directors expect to build up in Santa Ana, the Enterprise Publishing Company, Inc., this week unloaded a carload of printing machinery and equipment shipped to this city from its plant in South San Francisco.

This equipment included two cylinder presses, several job presses and a linotype. The press equipment included an automatic press feeder of the latest type. All the equipment was moved to the Enterprise Publishing Company's press room in The Register building Tuesday and Wednesday of this week and mechanics are now installing it. It is expected that more than two weeks will elapse before all the machinery will be in place and in working order.

Speaking of the new concern and its prospects in this city A. P. Hart, the vice-president of the corporation, stated today: "We believe that Santa Ana and Orange county has a great and sure future and we propose to be here to grow up with the city. I have been in the printing business in Santa Ana for about two years but it was only recently, when I threw in my fortunes with the Enterprise Publishing Company, that I felt I could realize my ambition to be interested in a first-class printing and publishing plant here. Robert Speed, our president, came here recently from South San Francisco where he was the president and manager of the Enterprise Publishing Company for about five years. Mr. Speed was so favorably impressed with this city and its evident future that he decided to move his plant here from the northern town. I combined the plant of the Hart Printing Company with that of the

with the result that we are now equipped to do anything in the printing line. 'Anything printable from a visiting card to a bound volume, is our slogan, and we expect to give this city and county a printing plant that will become noted for the high quality of its product.'

Speed had little to add to what Hart had said. "I'm too busy to talk," he declared. "This moving a whole printing plant the size of the Enterprise Publishing Company's for 450 miles is a colossal task but we're all here and are getting straightened around as fast as possible. This is my old home town, you know, as I was raised here and lived near this city for twenty years. I've been away from here for about a dozen years but now I'm glad to be in business here and am sincere when I say Santa Ana is one of the best business cities in California."

A new cement, plastic, waterproof, strong and durable.

Heretofore plasticity has been given concrete by the addition of clay or lime to the cement. Such admixtures have weakened the concrete and added to its water absorption.

Oils, fats or soaps have been added to make it waterproof resulting in weakened concrete, frequently in disintegration.

Plastite is both waterproof and plastic, made so by a new process, absolutely without loss of strength.

It is especially recommended for—Floors and Sidewalks, Cellars, Basements and Vaults, Tanks and Reservoirs, Stucco and Exterior Plaster, Mortar for Marble, Etc., Concrete Pipe and Tile.

New Shampoo Keeps Blonde Hair From Darkening

Brings Back Rich, Golden Beauty
To Darkened Blonde Hair

A new Swedish light hair shampoo has been perfected, which not only keeps blonde hair from darkening, but which actually brings back the true, rich golden beauty to even the most faded, ashy and lustreless blonde hair. This new shampoo called Blondex, is a natural product and brings its results in a natural gradual way. Ordinary shampoos, often tend to make light hair appear dull, faded and unnatural looking. But Blondex is a special shampoo for light hair only. Blonde hair is always attractive—but when it becomes unattractive in color, dirt, dandruff, faded, it is far from pleasing. So shampoo your hair this new way, and see how much prettier it looks. It is a highly beneficial to both hair and scalp. Contains no injurious dyes or chemicals. Highly recommended for children's hair. Get Blondex today! Available at all dealers, such as J. K. Keller, Wingood Drug Co., J. J. Farnsworth, White Cross Drug Co.

"OUTLOOK BRIGHT"

GEORGE E. ROBERTS

BY GEORGE E. ROBERTS
Vice President of the National City
Bank of New York

The business outlook is very promising.

The attitude of the business community is shown by the action of the stock market, increased commodity buying and the general expression of confidence since the election. The prevalent feeling therefore, the world over is that better times are coming everywhere, and nothing will do more than this to bring them.

The disorganized state of industry in Europe since the war has affected trade between that continent and the rest of the world, with the result that the price of farm products and raw materials have been depressed and the purchasing power of great numbers of people reduced. This has been the sore spot in the United States, but the rise of farm products last June has gone a long way toward relieving it.

Ten years ago people were asking if it would take ten years for agriculture to get back into normal relations with the other industries, and then within ten weeks the thing was done, and by a simple natural readjustment of the relations between supply and demand. It is evident now that the troublesome surplus was relatively small.

When industry in its various branches is in balance, nothing but confidence is needed to make good times and these conditions are now present.

URGE BRIDGE TO LINK L. B.-H. B.

onced and Mr. Smith then assured the committee would take their argument under consideration and see what could be done about action.

Cost About $30,000
It is understood that the rebuilding of the bridge would cost from $30,000 to $40,000, but it would serve an important section of the Southland, the members of the committee feel, as well as uniting three cities by rail.

During the summer the bed of the Santa Ana river has been temporarily utilized by the beet and similar shipping interests around that section and rails have been laid in the sand when the riverbed was dry to facilitate marketing. This is purely a temporary expedient and unsatisfactory for any volume of business or passenger traffic, it is asserted.

Independent Klan Asks Recognition

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 4.—The Independent Klan of America filed articles of incorporation with Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan. The organization has the same aims as the original Ku Klux Klan organization but requests that it be recognized as an independent order.

The new group will have its headquarters at Munice, Indiana. A. M. Thatcher, Los Angeles attorney, has been named as the California representative of the independent klan.

TWO FAIR SANTA ANA MISSES SHOW RANGE

This photograph of Miss Ruth Robertson of the Rankin Dry Goods company and Miss Helene Hope Hayden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hayden of the Southern Counties Gas company, is to appear in the national and international advertising of the manufacturers of the Roper ranges.

JAPAN RESISTS CUT OF NAVAL AUXILIARIES

Kobe, Japan, Dec. 4.—The Osaka Mainichi says that the Japanese naval opinion is flatly opposed to limitation of auxiliary vessels of war no matter what conference may propose it.

"Japan resisted the proposal limiting auxiliary vessels at the Washington conference three years ago and is determined to oppose any similar proposal at any future conference because her geographical and strategic condition will not allow it." The newspaper quotes officials of the Japanese navy office as saying today.

Nav officials said the only proposal concerning limitation of auxiliary craft they could entertain would be one fixing a minimum number for each nation.

They do not believe that the United States will propose another naval armament limitation conference, aimed at auxiliary craft. It is the opinion in Japan that such a move would threaten to disturb the peace of the Pacific.

A United Press correspondent touring in the west of Japan to observe the sentiment of the people on this subject learned that such a conference would be considered a move to strengthen Great Britain and the United States at the expense of Japan.

Actress Sues to Regain Dresses

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—Florence Reed, the actress, will seek in the West Side court to compel Frank E. Malone, backer of the late "Ashes", in which she starred, to give her back her clothes. The clothes, she said today, in discussing the summons issued by Magistrate Levine, are in a trunk. They are valued at $8,000 and she wants them back, particularly, she alleges, since "Ashes" collapsed after only five weeks—three here and the rest in Philadelphia—and still owed her $10,000 when it passed out.

Represented by Edwin G. Marks, counsel for the Actors' Equity Association, Miss Reed also has filed two suits in Municipal court. In one of which she seeks the recovery of the $10,000, and the other the $562.50 which she says is coming to her in film rights.

Miss Reed charges that the clothes, about which she is most concerned, were taken in charge by Mr. Malone in Philadelphia. He has since refused to return them, she says.

Oil Boom Pastor Dies In Kentucky

LEXINGTON, Ky., Dec. 4.—A telephone message from Morehead, Ky., announced the death there of Rev. E. G. B. Mann, one of the most noted Methodist ministers in the South and former presiding elder of the Lexington district. Rev. Mr. Mann suffered a stroke of apoplexy five days before while on his way to a railway station to return home to Lexington after having preached his regular sermon at the Morehead church, of which he was pastor.

Mr. Mann had been a pastor of various Methodist churches for many years. About ten years ago, when the oil fever struck Kentucky, he ceased his religious ministrations and engaged in promotion of various petroleum companies. He sold a large amount of stocks to former parishioners and others. Most, if not all, of the buyer of this stock made money, it is said.

Finally, the past summer, Dr.

The photographs of two charming Santa Ana misses will appear on letter heads and in magazines that are distributed over the entire world, it was announced here today by Jack C. Hayden, manager of the Santa Ana office of the Southern Counties Gas company.

An attractive picture of Miss Ruth Robertson, saleswoman of the Rankin Dry Goods company, in the role of a contented housewife who is showing Little Helene Hope Hayden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hayden, the easy way to bake biscuits in a Roper gas range, will be used as a feature of the national and international advertising of the range manufacturers.

The Santa Ana photograph will be printed in hundreds of newspapers, and magazines, and on the stationery of thousands of business firms which sell Roper products.

Miss Robertson was chosen for the picture because of her reputation as a beautiful woman. She has won numerous prizes in city and county beauty contests and received highest compliments when she appeared as a model in recent fashion shows of the Rankin Dry Goods company.

The modest manager of the gas company refuses to state why his daughter was chosen to appear with Miss Robertson in the photograph, but a glance at the photograph reveals that the little girl also is in the class of prize beauties.

Find L. A. Men Died Accidentally

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 4.—Thomas E. Quinn of Hollywood, and Harry A. Ferguson, who were killed late Saturday or early Sunday when their automobile plunged over a cliff north of Oceanside, met death through unfamiliarity with the highway, according to the verdict of a coroner's jury at Oceanside yesterday.

There were no witnesses to the accident, the bodies being discovered late Sunday night. The supposition is that Ferguson, who was driving, was traveling at a good rate of speed and was unable to make a turn in the road, the machine plunging off the high way and over the cliff. Mrs. Maude Ferguson, the widow, testified that she and her husband had arrived in Los Angeles last week from Neodesha, Kans., to spend the winter. She said Ferguson had left Los Angeles alone to motor to the Juarez for the races and must have picked up Quinn en route, as she and her husband had made no acquaintance during their brief stay in Los Angeles.

Coroner Schuyler Kelly of San Diego conducted the inquest. The bodies of the two men are at Oceanside funeral parlors. Ferguson's body will be sent to Neodesha for burial. The coroner is in communication with Mrs. Emma Callahan of Omaha, Neb., an aunt of Quinn, regarding disposition of his body.

Soldiers Bonus Beaten In Montana

HELENA, Mont., Dec. 4.—A tabulation of county returns revealed that the soldier bonus which would have provided a $4,500,000 bond issue, was defeated 67,814 against, to 66,245 for the measure. Unofficial returns earlier indicated the measure carrying.

Mann decided to return to his pastoral work and applied to the Methodist conference for a renewal of their relations. He was promptly assigned to the little church at Morehead, in the district where he had so long been a leader and over which for years he had been the presiding elder—the chief official for that area in his church.

Begging-letter writers in England often achieve regular incomes from their skill in wording pathetic appeals.

Dancing Partner Withdraws When Father Objects

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—Don Lee, San Francisco automobile dealer, has broken up one of the best dancing teams that ever started out to burn up the boards, according to word received here today from Los Angeles.

When Lee heard that his 18-year old son, Thomas, was practicing with Marjorie Prevost, sister of Marie Prevost, film star, to go behind the foot-lights together in a dancing act for $75 per week, each, he ordered his son to come home.

Miss Prevost is reported to be threatening all sorts of things, principally breach of contract. She claims to have invested $1000 in Tommy's education.

Miss Millicent Woodward, an English girl who holds the type-writing championship of Europe, has her fingers insured for $25,000.

Declare War On S. D. Slot Machines

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 4.—Nickel-in-the-slot machines must go in San Diego county, according to Sheriff James C. Byers, who today sent warning to proprietors of all places in the county where the machines are installed to stop their use without delay.

While the sheriff's orders apply only to the county, it is understood the crusade will be extended to the city in the event that municipal authorities do not bar the offending machines. The city attorney is now at work on an ordinance which will prohibit these petty gambling devices.

Several attempts have been made in the past to outlaw the slot machines in the city, but without success, municipal judges holding that under the present ordinance the machines can be operated.

This Is Just A Joke

Or a Series of Them, on Members of the Kiwanis Club, Presumably Perpetrated by Vice-President L. R. Crawford.

"Twas a night of murky, evil blackness. A stealthy, slow-moving wind, like a poisonous unspeakable monster, brushed a heavy putrid threat of death. The sky yawned a cavernous maw which drooled in blood-thirsty expectancy. On such a night men were swayed by sinister impulses. On such a night MEN KILLED. A cry! Bitten off sharply ere it had begun as lightning would cleave the death cry of a doomed man.

It reached the sensitive ears of Samuel Jernigan, long schooled to hear unmoved the gentle gurgle of bottled-in-bond down the sewer. Sam stood stock still silently speculating; stern, stiff, stolid sheriff, stricken speechless since strange shout sounded shaking station singles, stopping Sam's stud sport.

There was an empty moment. Then, shrieking loudly for aid Sam dashed in the opposite direction up HILL to find ALBERT, who buckled on his HARDWARE and hastened to RUSSELL, an OTTO to drive to the scene of the crime.

Rounding a corner at a rapid RAITT, Sam exclaimed: "O, H—! There's a BARR across the street!"

Detouring through a shoe store for what seemed MILES without a RAY of light, Sam had a FIT before they got out.

By that time several tradesmen had arrived.

A TAYLOR named "FRED," accompanied by a PEAR of PEACHES yelled "JAM-MIT, I'd like to beat the murderer into JELLY and CAN him." Wouldn't that JAR you?

A BAKER wheeled up several BARROWS of loaves of bread to be used as missiles and was promptly arrested for carrying dangerous weapons.

Also, a CHANDLER proved a RAY of hope when he arrived brandishing the two legs of QUEEN ANNE.

A MILLER with a RUSTY badge of an officer stepped up and said: "LUTZ go, PHIL, and hunt the criminal."

"Why pick on me," said Phil, "what's the MATTER?"

"What's the MATTER," roared back the Miller, "COTTON is the MATTER; just like that suit you sold me; come along, I WARREN you in the BOSS."

"Fortunately," said Sam, "we have plenty of light to work by as I see the Council has turned on the ornamental lights."

"Those ain't ornamental lights," said Fred, "that's Albert Hill and Ray Miles with their hats off."

The cry in the night having emanated from a butcher shop, a PEEK in the window revealed ARNOLD prone on the floor in a pool of blood which thickened as it grew COULTER and COULTER.

Miller grabbed an axe and started to hew at the top of the door. "Stop," said Sam, "HUGH LOWE if you want to SUIT me."

"WEHRLY, WEHRLY," quoth Dr. John as they entered and viewed the carcass, "tis a LOWE deed."

"You DAHLEM," CHARLES remarked.

"It makes my blood BOYLE," cried LEE.

Deducing from footprints found in the sawdust, Sam advanced the theory that the crime was committed by a slightly deformed lady with a CROOKSHANK last AUGUST.

Miller advised, "Don't be a BLAH, BLAUER and SHUTE off at the mouth and BABBIT all over town. I have a theory that KNOX yours into COCKING'S hat—"

At that moment a soft female voice was heard singing "What'll I do?"

"Where's that JAYNE?" demanded Sam, "find that SINGER and WALKER or WHEELER out here."

Crouched behind a stack of KELLOGG'S CORNFLAKES the searchers discovered a disheveled young maiden who was dragged forth to face her accusers.

As she appeared framed in the doorway, a pitiful wail, Arnold regained those of the maiden's, dilated with horror, a shudder swept his tortured frame.

Fearing a relapse, Sam urged him to speak.

"Tell us about it, old man; quick, what is it?" he said.

In quivering accents Arnold moaned, "That girl—that girl—that terrible girl—"

"Yes, yes, go on," bade Sam.

"That girl—SHE THREW SHEEP'S EYES AT ME!"

CORNER STONE CEREMONY TO BE ON SUNDAY

Cornerstone laying exercises for the United Brethren in Christ church at the northwest corner of Third and Shelton streets will be held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, it was announced today by the Rev. L. Harter, pastor.

It is believed that the members will be able to occupy the house of worship in about six weeks. Construction work began some time ago.

The Rev. J. B. Kirsch of the Bell Memorial church, near Puente; Dr. L. L. Epley of the United Brethren church at Riverside and Rev. Harter will officiate at the ceremonies Sunday. The Rev. Epley will be accompanied to Santa Ana by his church orchestra, favorably known throughout the valley as a body of accomplished musicians.

A box containing the following will be placed in the cornerstone: The Bible, church discipline, The Telescope, church paper; brief history of the church; names of the trustees, names of all those who contributed $1 and a copy of The Register.

Cost of the edifice is estimated at $10,000. The Rev. Harter drew the plans, being assisted by blue print work by Curtis Vaught, a high school student. Construction is being done by day work, with Herbert Straw as foreman.

The Third and Shelton building will have a seating capacity of 500 persons. Plans include an auditorium and a kitchen. The old church edifice, located on the same lot, will be utilized as a social center. It is the aim of the members to make their church a gathering place for community affairs.

The United Brethren in Christ church was formed under the direction of the Rev. N. J. Crawford. The board of trustees was organized October 28, 1914. Pastors have been the Rev. Crawford, Rev. R. P. Russell, Rev. J. L. Parks and the Rev. Harter.

The present board of trustees consists of U. S. Colby, G. W. Spencer, W. G. Vaught, J. H. Noble, Fred Diamond, O. M. Harrison and N. L. Galbraith.

"The board and the members have given their wholehearted support in the building work," the Rev. Harter said today. "This denomination is American born, representative in form of government, devotional in spirit and well adapted for community service where people of varied religious training co-operate for the common good of the Kingdom of God."

OUR—NEIGHBORS

ONTARIO—Mrs. Herman Feltz, 302 West Nevada street, Ontario, is anxiously awaiting word from her daughter, Dorothy Feltz, of Detroit, to learn whether she has received the $1,000 reward offered for the capture of Harry Dunlap, "the notorious badge bandit."

In a recent letter, Miss Feltz said that she would have to go to court to settle the matter of the reward as others were also claiming it.

It was Miss Feltz, who first called the officers to arrest the bandit.

The officers making the arrest had to fight with Dunlap to subdue him.

Mrs. Feltz is expecting another letter from her daughter soon.

UPLAND—Miss Clara Bissell, who has served as executive secretary of the Chaffey Community Girls' Work organization for the past several years, resigning that post recently, left to return to Turkey, where she will resume work for the Y. W. C. A. in which she was formerly engaged.

Miss Bissell goes from here to New York City, from which port she will sail for Constantinople.

At the Turkish port, Miss Bissell expects to spend six months in the Roberts college, familiarizing herself with the languages of the Near East, after which she will take charge of one of two Y. W. C. A. centers in Constantinople, where she will act as general secretary of the work. Miss Bissell expects to remain in Turkey for three years.

UPLAND—This city's building total for the year approached the $200,000 mark with eight permits issued during November for a total of $11,325, according to figures made public by E. C. Mehl, city clerk. The total for the year to date is now $157,770.

SANTA BARBARA—Wild cattle were routed out of a dense thicket on the 25,000-acre San Marcos ranch here by a brush fire set by the ranch management by permit from the Forestry Department. For years the Alta Loma hill section of the ranch, on the north side of the Santa Ynez river, has been a mass of tall brush, scrub oak and other growth for years. Arizona cattle liberated on the ranch have made their way into the brush and there have stayed for years, defying every effort to dislodge them. Range riders have sighted them at times, but they would not follow the home herds. It is said that the fire has added 100 head of stock to the available supply on the ranch.

STOCKTON—Chief of Police Walter L. Walker is planning to resign as chief of the force in the near future, according to reports circulating in the city yesterday. The report is to the effect that the resignation has been decided upon but that the time for it to take effect is still in the air. He will have served 30 years in the department in March and would be allowed to retire with full pension in March next year.

The chief declines to discuss the report and says that he has not authorized the announcement. Joining the force in 1895 he came up through the ranks and served in practically every capacity from patrolman to chief.

RIVERSIDE—Chief of Police Elmer Deiss will attend a conference of southern peace officers at Los Angeles on Friday, at which time battle lines against gunmen from the east seeking refuge and criminals in general will be drawn.

District attorneys, constables, sheriffs and other heads of peace organizations from San Luis Obispo to the Mexican border are included in the general call for the conference.

Formal invitations to attend have been dispatched to each peace officer.

The conference will be conducted in the office of District Attorney Asa Keyes and will be in the nature of a mass meeting.

DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION MEN TO MEET

In conjunction with the fifty-seventh annual convention of California Fruit Growers and Farmers, to be held in Sacramento, December 10 and 11, the board of directors of the California Development association will hold an open agricultural meeting in the assembly room of the state capital building on the night of December 9.

This meeting will follow the regular monthly session of the board of directors to be held the same day in Rio Vista.

An open discussion of problems concerning California growers and addresses by authorities on various phases of agricultural development will feature the gathering. Governor Friend W. Richardson is to give the address of welcome.

Other talks will be made by W. F. McClure, director state department of public works, on "Water Resources of California"; C. E. Grunsky, consulting engineer of San Francisco, on "Benefits to be Derived from the Salt Water Dam"; A. T. Spencer, president state reclamation board, on "Reclamation of the Sacramento-San Joaquin Valleys"; and Major U. S. Grant III, district engineer United States Army, on "Problems of the Sacramento River."

Norman H. Sloane, general manager California Development association, is to be one of the speakers at the annual banquet of California Fruit Growers and Farmers the following night. Directors of the association who are also scheduled for addresses are Paul Shoup, vice-president Southern Pacific; Charles E. Virden, president Virden Packing company, and Ralph P. Merritt, president Sun Maid Raisin Growers' association.

JACK DEMPSEY, FILM STAR, TO JOIN FORCES

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 4.—Whether Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, is engaged to Estelle Taylor, film actress, is more or less of a question.

But that Jack has been engaged by Miss Taylor is admitted by them both. The fight champ is to act as her business manager.

"I'm very poor at business matters, and it's such a comfort to have some one like Jack to turn to," Miss Taylor admitted today.

The fighter returned here a day or so ago to look after his apartments, hotels and other properties. The actress, strangely enough arrived about the same time.

Both have been out together frequently since their return but neither will admit the discussed marriage.

Miss Taylor's husband has applied for a divorce in the east, it is reported, and developments from the local angle are expected after the decree is granted.

He called police and had Sang arrested. A confession followed.

WANTS UNIFORM CAR LICENSE LAW

CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 4.—Adoption of a uniform licensing law for automobile drivers in the near future by all states of the union was predicted here today by Robins B. Stoeckel, motor vehicle commissioner of Connecticut, in a statement issued through the National Safety Council.

"The time is not far distant, when for the protection of careful motorists and pedestrians," Stoeckel said, "all states will license the drivers of motor vehicles upon examination as to their fitness and will revoke licenses upon violation of any of the rules by which it is held."

The National Safety Council is co-operating with various conferences of state and motor vehicle commissioners in a national movement for the adoption of such laws in an effort to minimize automobile accidents.

"The greatest factor in the problem of safe operation of motor vehicles is the ego, personality, individualism of the operator," Stoeckel said. "A standard to measure this can't be set. But, at least, tests of mentality and of proper driving experience can and should be efficiently applied before an operator is licensed and these tests kept applicable through his or her whole driving period."

"The license system provides for examination of all operators and for the discipline and education of all operators while licensed."

"The examination into fitness is a great safeguard for life and property. Its proper administration makes it possible for a competent examiner to immediately discover any obvious defect which the applicant may have, to inquire into his mental processes, his general intelligence, his ability to read and write and his actual ability to run a motor vehicle with safety to himself and others."

HOLD OKLA. MAN ON THEFT CHARGE

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—Oklahoma authorities were awaited here today to take back with them Waino H. Clapham, Mutual, Okla. banker, charged with absconding with $70,000 of the bank's funds. Clapham has confessed, officers say, to having taken some of the money but denies the total was anything near the $70,000.

The fugitive worked for a time in Austin, Texas, Portland and San Francisco before coming here. He was working in a lumber yard at $4 a day when located here.

Seelig Sells His Share In Business

Sam Seelig, who has been for fourteen years the directing head of the business bearing his name, has disposed of his holdings in the Sam Seelig company, it was announced yesterday. Soon after the first of the year, 1925, Seelig will resign as president and director of the companies and will retire from business, at which time W. R. H. Weiden will become associated with the management of the company.

No other changes are to be made in the personnel of the organization. The announcement states that Seelig desires to thank the patrons of the company for the loyal support given to himself and associates in the years past.

MICE BOTHERSOME

CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 3.—Workings of the Turkish government are being held up by an army of mice that is infesting the government buildings. Important legislative measures are being laid aside while ways and means are devised to get rid of the rodents. Other parts of Constantinople also are suffering from an invasion of mice.

Prefers Onions To Wife, Claim

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—Someone said that eating onions builds you up physically and tears you down socially. Such was the opinion of Mrs. Margaret Brunner, who secured a divorce from Ralph Brunner because he persisted in eating onions.

"I told him he'd have to either quit me or quit eating onions, so he left," Mrs. Brunner told the court.

PUBLICITY IS GIVEN COUNTY BY MAGAZINE

Publicity to the different phases of development work carried on in Orange county, particularly in Santa Ana and Anaheim, is given in the December issue of the California Real Estate association.

In addition to the front page cover, carrying a proclamation by Everett A. White, a well known Santa Ana realtor, president of the state association, not less than six entire pages are devoted to Orange county doings.

"Locating Industries in the Small Cities" is the title of a four-page article, describing the industrial development of Santa Ana and Anaheim, enumerating the different kinds of enterprises located in these communities.

Another article, featuring President White's inaugural address, sets forth in detail the policies and working program outlined by the well known Santa Ana realtor, who ranks high in the councils of the national organization, the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

Russian Envoy Arrives In France

PARIS, Dec. 4.—The Gare de L'Est rang with the chorus of the "Internationale" today as Leonid Krassin, new Russian ambassador, arrived and was greeted by a throng that numbered fully 10,000.

Simultaneous, in the home of a Communist a short distance away, the police captured Jacques Sadoul, a former army captain, under sentence of death for desertion in war time. Sadoul fled to Russia and returned here after recognition of the soviet government.

Krassin, cheered as a popular hero with shouts of "Long live Krassin." "Long live soviet Russia" was kissed and embraced and nearly overwhelmed by his welcomers.

LIGHTNING SKIPS RADIO ANTENNAE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Radio antennae are neither protection against lightning nor a menace, the Bureau of Standards announces after exhaustive tests.

Antennae need not be considered as potential inviters of lightning strokes, being in a class with other metal objects normally found about buildings such as metal gutters, down spouts, and wire clothes-lines, the bureau finds.

As commonly installed, they are of relatively small size, both in extent and in the diameter of the wire used. If grounded, the bureau says, or provided with a lightning arrester, they may affect a very slight gradual drainage of electricity as well as a lightning rod, but a direct stroke is likely to fuse them or tear them from their fastenings on account of their small diameter.

The ground lead of an aerial constitutes a lightning rod having a single down conductor, whereas good lightning rod practice, the bureau believes requires at least two down conductors electrically paralleled but as widely separated as possible.

Seek Young Men for U. S. Schools

Uncle Sam is looking for two young men residing in the Eleventh Congressional district who desire to attend West Point and Annapolis.

Congressman Phil D. Swing, who has the privilege of appointing candidates, announces that a civil service examination will be conducted at conveniently designated places on January 3. Following this examination, Swing will conduct a personal inquiry into the records of the applicants.

Applicants for admission to the Army school must be between 17 and 22 years of age. The naval academy age requirements are 16 to 20 years. All candidates must be citizens of the United States, physically sound, possess a natural capacity for leadership, have inquisitive habits, good moral character and an obedient and orderly disposition.

Any boy interested is invited to write Swing at Washington for information as to the places examinations will be held.

L. A. MEN TO SEEK PEACE IN OWENS VALLEY

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—Named by Mayor George Cryer, a committee of three, composed of William Lacy, president of the chamber of commerce, Henry S. McKee, president of Barker Brothers, and O. M. Souden, president of the United States National bank, was working today on the Owens Valley reparations plan.

The trio is acting in conjunction with the Los Angeles Clearing House association in an effort to settle claims of over $5,000,000 made by Owens Valley ranchers for asserted damage to their land caused by Owens river water diverted into the city's aqueduct. Hopes have been expressed on both sides that an early decision will be reached.

In a statement made by J. A. Graves, president of the Los Angeles Clearing House association, he said, "It appears to me that there are two questions vital to settlement. First, a question of fact on what damages, if any, have the farmers of Owens Valley suffered by reason of any acts of the city of Los Angeles? Secondly, a matter of law, if damages have been incurred, is this city liable, either in law or in equity?"

"Another question which would have great weight with me is this: Whether any moneys which the city would agree to pay are to be divided among the farmers of the valley, or whether the lion's share thereof would go to a junta of Los Angeles and Bishop capitalists, who do their farming through the newspapers, who are reported to have bought both land and water rights at a low figure, and for which they want from this city millions?"

CUTS NOSE IN FAN

LONDON, Dec. 2.—James Laffroy bet Carl Smith that he could stop an electric fan with his nose. The blades of the fan cut Laffroy's nose severely in the experiment, and he was removed to a hospital where his condition was regarded as critical. Smith was arrested on a charge of intoxication.

ON WATER-WAGON

BERLIN, Dec. 3.—Two English tourists who were trying to out-drink each other in a Berlin cafe were thrown into the street just in time to be thoroughly doused by the hose of a passing water-wagon. They both climbed on the wagon, singing loudly, and were driven out of town.

Canadians Will Fight Extradition

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—Every possible means of escaping extradition to Canada to face charges of piracy on the high seas will be employed by Milo and Ariel

Eggers, it was indicated when the two men appeared for preliminary hearing before U. S. Commissioner Krull.

The men are accused of "hijacking" liquor vessels in Canadian waters. They claim violation of their constitutional rights through search and seizure without warrant by arresting officers here.

PRETZELS HIGH PRICED

BERLIN, Dec. 4.—The pretzel industry is on the decline. Pretzels at one time one of Germany's commonest foods, have become a luxury for the aristocracy since the cost of the ingredients has sent the price hailing high into the air. Pretzel stores have been failing in all parts of the country.

New German Oil Sold Under Written Guarantee Rubs Out Rheumatism

A remarkable new discovery of German Chemistry, called Buhler Oil, for the relief of Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia, is astonishing the medical world. This marvelous oil seems to kill rheumatic pains just as effectively as these other German pain killers—Novocain for painless dentistry and Aspirin for headache pains.

Rheumatism in very many cases is due to internal abscesses (such as a blind pus pocket in a tooth) which give off poisons, and which are carried in the blood to the joints and muscles. Buhler Oil when applied to the affected parts, seems to quickly penetrate and be absorbed by the body tissue. Even in the most severe and stubborn cases almost instant relief has been obtained.

No remarkable have been the results from the use of Buhler Oil. The American distributors have authorized local druggists to dispense it to patients. This oil is sold in this city with a positive written guarantee to return the full purchase price of the first bottle if it does not bring wonderful relief. All sufferers should promptly take advantage of this guarantee. For sale at: C. S. Kelley, Fred J. Parson's, A. A. Watkins, White Cross Drug Co., Wingard Drug Co.

Worried By a Bad Back?

DAY after day the same old nagging backache? Lame in the morning, tortured with stabbing pains—weak and unstrung after the least exertion?

Too often weak kidneys are to blame for this unhappy state. When the kidneys slow up, poisons fill the blood and upset the whole system. Your back aches, you are lame and stiff, suffer headaches, dizziness and annoying kidney irregularities.

Don't wait for serious kidney sickness. Use Doan's Pills before it is too late. Doan's have helped thousands. They should help you. Ask your neighbor!

Here is Santa Ana Proof:

William McGreevy, retired deputy sheriff, 1111 E. First St., says: "I had pains just over my kidneys and when I stooped over I could hardly straighten. I had to get up often at night to pass the kidney secretions, which burned. I had headaches. Four boxes of Doan's Pills, from Howler's Drug Store, relieved the pains in my back and the other symptoms left."

KIWANIANS IN SOCIAL MEET: BAN BUSINESS

Good fellowship featured the doings of yesterday's weekly luncheon meeting of the Santa Ana Kiwanis club, held at St. Ann's Inn.

The program, designated as "Pure Advertising Day," brought a record attendance, including a number of prominent guests, some of them registering from the Empire state. The meeting was truly Kiwanian in spirit and purpose.

Business had been placed on the verboten list and the only reference to matters of serious import was an announcement that election of officers for 1925 will be held next Wednesday when every member of the local organization is expected to be present to cast his vote.

Chaplin's Child Bride Returns To Studies But Not to Regular School

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 4.—Back to her schoolbooks but not to a schoolroom today trotted little Lita Grey, child bride of Charles Spencer Chaplin, the screen's greatest comedian.

The 16-year-old wife of the funster has put one over on the law. A portly, leane woman tutor has been employed to teach Lita the rudiments of algebra, history, and perhaps a bit of domestic science. Classes are being held each morning in the Chaplin mansion out on the Beverly Hills.

In this way the California law which requires that all children under 18 be schooled, is being obeyed.

Existence of the tutor was learned by the United Press when the educator stormed into the board of education offices and wanted to know what all the fuss was about.

The instructor identified herself as the mentor of the comedian's bride and proved, presumably, that the law is being fully met. Hence no action by school authorities is being contemplated.

"We could enforce the rules just as positively in the case of Mrs. Chaplin as any of several thousand other children in the Los Angeles school district," said Mrs. Susan B. Dorsey, city superintendent of schools.

"I don't know that there has ever been a specific ruling here in the case of a girl of this age who has married, as it is no longer customary for girls of 16 to marry in civilized countries."

Legality of the Chaplin wedding in Mexico, in which the 16-year-old bride gave her age as 19, is debated in legal circles here. Most authorities believe there can be no question as to the ceremony's binding quality.

Believes Marriage Legal.

"I am inclined to think the marriage was legal in Mexico, and in that case it would be hard to break it here," said Judge Walter Guerin. "If the mother is present and gives her consent, a girl of 16 can marry in this state, so I am inclined to think the Mexican wedding was in compliance with the law," commented Judge Harry A. Hollzer.

Meantime, the whole discussion of the age of the comedian's bride is very disturbing to the principals. They don't say so, for they don't say anything, but one can take it from Ed Manson, Chaplin's publicity man, that such is the case.

"Charlie will allow no interviews," that dignitary said. "Charlie always has refused interviews. Charlie and the papers are on a par. In fact, he is read by more people than the newspapers."

"They have been persecuted to death by reporters and photographers and why isn't it their own business?"

No one seemed able to give a satisfactory answer, other than that publicity is the cross the great must bear.

Honeymoon—?

"Will they go on a honeymoon?"

Manson was asked.

"I expect so, but we don't know."

Mr. Chaplin is very busy. He is making a new picture, you know."

"Will he want any publicity on that new picture?"

"That's a d— silly question."

"What prevented the honeymoon in Mexico that was contemplated?"

"Well, they had planned to go down the coast from Guaymas to Mazatlan but the Southern Pacific wouldn't loan them the private car any longer so we all had to come back."

"Are they happy?"

"Very happy. All they want is to be let alone. I feel sure the wedding will be a great success. Just let them alone, please."

Knives, shears, etc., ground.

WARN VETERANS TO FILE CLAIMS

All disabled war veterans must file their claims before January 1 if they expect aid from the government. It was announced today by Wilbur Getty, commander of the local post of the American Legion.

Two representatives of the Veterans' bureau in Los Angeles will be present at the legion meeting Thursday night to explain the Reed-Johnson bill, which deals with disabled veterans. Mr. Getty stated.

The following letter has been sent out by the Disabled American veterans of the World War:

"If you are ill from any cause, or suffering from the effects of war wounds or disabilities, Congress has enacted a law whereby you are entitled to the best of treatment in government hospitals at no expense to yourself, and irrespective of whether your illness or disability is a result of your military service; and you are entitled to treatment for yourself and family if your illness or disability is a result of your military service."

"However, your claim should be filed immediately, and before January 1, 1925, particularly if you are suffering in any degree from any of the following disabilities: Neuropsychiatric diseases (nervous disorders), active tuberculosis, paralysis agitans, encephalitis lethargica, amoebic dysentery."

PUSH OVER CART

HULL, England, Dec. 4.—Five mischievous boys who pushed over the cart of an Italian fruit vendor were the means of uncovering the loot of a recent bank robbery. When the apples and pears and oranges had rolled onto the ground, a large box of jewelry and cash was revealed to the eyes of police. The vendor said he did not know the box was in his cart.

The Piercing Pains of NEURITIS

Torturing pains—the kind that pierce and burn and never seem to let up—that rob a man of his sleep—that make him just a bag of nerves and all worn out.

Those are the pains that dope and coal tar products can only relieve. You've got to get something more lasting.

The quickest, safest and surest way to get rid of the persistent, nerve-racking pains of Neuritis is to get a bottle of Allenburh Special Formula No. 2. Be sure you get No. 2, which comes in capsule form. Take these little dark green capsules as directed and notice how in about 24 hours they have considerably reduced if not entirely banished those severe, torturing pains that have caused you so many sleepless nights. Continue for two or three days more or until the pains have entirely disappeared.

It doesn't matter how long you may have suffered or whether your Neuritis is in the shoulder, arm, neck or legs. Allenburh Special Formula No. 2 will stop the torture and give you speedy relief.

C. S. Kelley, (mail orders accepted) or any good druggist will be glad to supply you.

HARRY B. HUNT'S CAPITAL LETTER

By HARRY B. HUNT
WASHINGTON, D.C., 4.—The only way to make prohibition prohibit, Congress will be told when it meets to consider appropriations for the next fiscal year, will be to dig a lot deeper into the national pocketbook.

Even here in the capital it must be admitted that the money is more readily obtainable than two or three years ago, and the quality is much more dependable.

Producers of "moonshine" are no longer amateurs. The product they turn out today, in large part, lacks only proper aging to make it compare favorably with many of the cheaper brands of pre-prohibition liquor.

A large distilling layout, located directly across the street from the House office building, where congressmen have their offices, was raided a few days after election. It was equipped to turn out a product which even congressional palates might have pronounced good, had not its presence been disclosed by sheer accident.

In addition to added appropriations to finance the ferreting out of internally manufactured, illicit beverages, a more extensive and expensive guard will have to be maintained against smuggled liquors before prohibition will prohibit.

Just what the coast guard and revenue cutter services are up against in trying to outwit the financially, carefully organized smuggling rings will be told House and Senate appropriations committees by Rear Admiral Fred C. Billard and his aid, Lieut. Com. Stephen Yeandle.

In order to get his facts straight, Yeandle recently went abroad in the guise of a man eager to learn the run-running business, to buy a boat and get in on the "easy spoils."

He visited lonely points along the coast where bootleggers have set up warehouses and established underground transportation and communication systems more weird and devious than anything ever thought of in the old days of slavery's "underground railroad."

He will have some real thrills to recount that may stir Congress to recognition of the fact that the men it employs to enforce prohibition are pitted against a band of buccaners as determined and resourceful as any of the band that sailed with Captain Kidd in the old days when piracy was the easy road to adventure and easy money.

Peppery "Cole" Blease of South Carolina, elected to the United States Senate last year, has served notice on his constituents that, as a senator, he is too known henceforth as Coleman Livingston Blease, no less.

Down in Carolina, where "Cole" has been a hot coal in politics for the past decade, they have of late given him the diminutive title of "Colie." Of course it has been meant as a term of endearment. But as a senator, Coleman doesn't want endearments. He wants dignity. "Colie" was bad enough, but "Colie" that couldn't possibly be endured. It gave him a pain. Too much like "colic" perhaps.

Anyway, hereafter, remember, it is not "Cole" Blease, nor "Colie" Blease, but the Honorable Coleman Livingston Blease, United States senator!

The "telegraph tree" of India has electrical qualities which can kill people with weak hearts.

Movie Chatterbox

BY JACK JUNGMEYER
HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 4.—Some young ball players, whose wisdom exceeds their years, decline big league opportunities until they are confident they can surely qualify. Boxers are "brought along easy" are not taxed beyond ability and endurance. It is, indeed, a sport axiom that a beginner's development must not be rushed, for it is hard to get the big chance again once you have missed.

The analogy holds good in movies. Young picture players of high promise would save themselves much grief by heeding it. Many a boy or girl has been considered fortunate to get a big part, a role that might "make" the player over night. And occasionally youngsters have "arrived" in a single role. But more often these seemingly splendid opportunities have proven temporarily or even permanently disastrous.

Douglas Fairbanks Jr. was starred in one production—and then didn't work again for over a year. Lila Lee as a mere child had stardom forced upon her by her talents were ripe, with resultant heartache and disappointment. Bessie Love, after an enviable start, barely escaped oblivion when her first starring venture failed. It has taken her several years to re-establish herself as one of the most capable actresses on the screen. Such cases are common.

Opportunity does not always knock twice at the door of immaturity. The time for critical decision comes when producers begin to compete for the obviously gifted novice, with the lure of more money and big parts. The appeal to the ego is almost irresistible.

Citing an illustrious example at the Hal Roach studios a group of girls now faced by this dilemma. They brim with ambition. They take their comedy parts, from lead to extra, very seriously. They realize what Hal Roach did for Harold Lloyd, Bebe Daniels and other celebrities. They have no doubt about eventual big success, but they do not want to be made the victims of inexperience. So they wait and do well by waiting and working in a variety of parts.

There is Blanche Mehaffey, of the 1923 Ziegfeld Follies. Several directors and producers, struck by Blanche's photographic youthful beauty, have wanted to engage her for dramatic roles, but she has elected to remain with Roach for more seasoning in comedy.

Marie Mosquini, of magnetic personality, recently rejected an offer as leading lady in another studio. Petite Olive Borden passed up a chance at which most girls would have leaped. The director of one of the largest Hollywood studios offered to place her in the stock company and had her first role selected. But Olive considered the fact that there she might have long waits between parts, while training was still her first necessity.

A girl in the movies, if she be wise, finishes her pictorial high school curriculum before attempting to enter college.

Not too many young screen players figure that far ahead. But the present Hal Roach girls are shrewdly working hard for their diplomas in the school of short comedies which has trained a number of the screen's foremost stars of today.

TELLEGEN AS SCULPTOR IN "BETWEEN FRIENDS"
Art lovers are beseeching Lou Tellegen, internationally famous star of stage and screen, to place on exhibition specimens of his ability as a sculptor, an art in which he is equally as proficient as the one in which the public knows him best—the stage and screen. Although not generally known in the same measure as is his work as an actor, Tellegen is a sculptor of no mean ability, and if he so desired he could qualify as a sculptor of world-wide promise.

As a pupil of the celebrated Meunier, foremost Belgian sculptor, and later as both pupil and warm friend of the great Rodin, with whom he lived for two years, Tellegen attracted the attention of the foremost sculptors and art critics of Europe.

Modeling has been his foremost diversion all during his stage career, and in his latest picture, "Between Friends," which will be seen at Walker's theatre tonight, he is cast as a sculptor. This, in the actual filming of the picture, the work of Tellegen took on a new significance because to him it was real. This popular star has kept hidden a great art, according to his friends, who insist that he display some of his best works that the world may know his versatility.

"AMERICA" STORY WRITTEN BY ROBERT W. CHAMBERS

The story of "America," written by Robert W. Chambers, the novelist, whose earlier books dealt with the Revolutionary period, and who is regarded in literary circles as an expert in the history of those days, is the story of the struggle of the colonies for liberty from Paul Revere's ride until George Washington became President.

All of dramatic incidents of the war, and its major battles figure in the film now showing at the West End theatre. Griffith established a special research bureau to settle the mooted points of American history, and provide him with minute and authentic data.

The selection of players was another process which took up much time, as Griffith and his advisory experts insisted upon getting types for the roles of Washington, John Adams, Hancock, Quincy, Otis,

The Mortgage Guarantee Company of Los Angeles

[strongest mortgage insurance company in the United States outside New York City, with resources of $30,000,000.00] is prepared at all times to consider applications for building loans, and new or replacement loans on residential properties.

Loans of this type are made in amounts of $2000 to $8000 (not to exceed 50% of appraised value), for a term of fifteen years, secured by first trust deeds, and reducible at the rate of 3% semi-annually, with privilege of re-payment without bonus after three years.

Loans are also made on well-located courts, flats, apartment, and business properties.

Applications accompanied by the necessary information will be given prompt attention.

The monumental task was materially lightened by patriotic and historical organizations which placed at the director's disposal their collections of documents and relics, and given over swamped with letters from every conceivable source offering assistance of every kind, from the loan of historic flintlocks, to the request by municipalities of Revolutionary fame that he make scenes there, and use descendants of Revolutionary heroes as "supers."

ALL-STAR CAST PLAYS IN "DYNAMITE SMITH"

The fortunate circumstances of getting under way before other big studios on the West coast really opened up last summer was partly responsible for the exceptional cast supporting Charles Ray in his big come-back feature, "Dynamite Smith," now showing at the Temple theatre.

The casting director at the Thomas H. Ince studio had the pick of the field, and several other important productions had to wait until "Dynamite Smith" was completed.

Bessie Love, an inspired wisp of humanity, who plays with inimitable delicacy and sincerity every thing she undertakes, was obtained for "Violet," the pathetic little wife of "Sluggo" Bourke.

Jacqueline Logan was pre-eminently the actress to portray "Kitty Gray," so Famous Players-Lasky were induced to lend her for the part.

Lydia Knott has mothered Charles Ray in many a former picture, and, although "Aunt Mabitale," in "Dynamite Smith," is a comparatively small part, she was supremely happy to be looking after "her boy" again.

Wallace Beery is always in demand for heavies, although as King Richard in "Robin Hood" and in the title role of "Richard, the Lion-Hearted" he registered splendidly as a picturesque monarch. He was considered ideal for "Sluggo Bourke," the villain of "Dynamite Smith."

EVERY SCENE FOR PICTURE TAKEN IN STUDIO
During the filming of "Madonna of the Streets," which opens at the Yost theatre tonight, Edwin Carewe did not leave the studio for a single location. Every scene was filmed at the United Studios. Even when it was necessary to take a scene showing the interior of a London mission house holding a thousand people Carewe preferred to build the set in the studio rather than use one of Hollywood's halls, which at best would be a poor imitation of the typically English structure which the story called for.

In "Madonna of the Streets" Millicent Sills is cast as a mission worker. Nazimova, famous Russian actress, re-enters motion pictures after a two years' absence and is featured in this picture with Sills.

leg. Over there a woman would begin to stir. Soon all was activity.

"I started after a first aid kit and searched three cars for one but apparently someone else had found it. Then all those not hurt turned in to aid the injured. When we found some one dead we left them where they were until officers could arrive.

"When the ambulances got there most of the injured were free from the shattered cars and ready to be moved to hospitals. The wreck blocked the traffic on the Key route tracks and delayed thousands of commuters en route to San Francisco to work.

Ran Past Signals
E. E. Thornton, superintendent of tracks of the Key route said that the motorman of the Sacramento short line train ran past two block signals and one crossing signal, before crashing into the rear of the Key route train.

J. P. Potter, superintendent of trains, Key route, said at the scene of the wreck that an investigation of the catastrophe would be held in the offices of the Key route at 9 a. m. tomorrow.

It was learned that the stop signals are not of prehistoric age but are at least 50,000 years old, were sold at auction in London the other day.

Complete Check on Anaheim Petition

ANAHEIM, Dec. 4.—A final check of the names on the alleged anti-Klan petition asking for a recall of Godfrey Stock, Anaheim city trustee, has been made and the required number of signatures were found to be valid by City Clerk Merritt.

The petition originally contained 779 names. Of this number 763 were checked with the Great Register and found to be valid. This means that for certainty a recall election be invoked against all five members of the Anaheim city council.

The first recall petition was filed by the U. S. A. club of Anaheim and asked for the recall of Mayor E. H. Metcalf and Trustees A. L. Knipp, Dean W. Hasson and A. A. Shaback.

This petition included 800 names of which number 783 were found valid.

Starbuck Defends County Raid Bill
FULLERTON, Dec. 4.—Fines collected will more than pay the expenses of the investigations and other expenses incident to the recent county-wide liquor raids and Fullerton taxpayers will not be required to pay a cent of such expenses, according to a statement issued today by William Starbuck of Fullerton at whose home headquarters for the raid were established.

Starbuck issued his statement, he said, to answer criticisms of an unauthorized bill presented to the Fullerton city council for $2800 for expenses of the raids. The council appropriated $500 and objection was raised when the $2800 bill was presented. The bill was presented by the chief of the secret service for the California Anti-Saloon league. After argument the bill was ordered paid.

Financial and Market News

WALL ST. JOURNAL

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—Dissemination throughout the country of President Coolidge's address to congress brought a nationwide rush to buy railway shares in today's session. This demand brought about another exhibition of extreme buoyancy in this class of stocks which surged ahead in huge volume.

The establishment of the $5 annual dividend rate on Frisco common caused the list to be combed for issues whose chances are good for dividend payments or increases in their present distributions.

Consequently stocks like Wabash pfd. "A", Missouri, Kansas & Texas pfd., Pittsburgh & West Virginia and Southern Railway, all advanced. Substantial gains on unusually heavy trading.

At the same time dealings among the industrialists were featured by bullish activities in various representative stocks but the behavior of the whole market was decidedly impressive.

The market closed higher.

Movie Chatterbox

Old Doc Stork has been a busy body around Hollywood this year, but few persons realize that out of all the babies brought to homes of film stars only one is a boy. They call him the "Crown Prince of Hollywood" and he certainly is a child born to the purple even if he isn't royalty himself. He is Robert Talmadge Keaton, and Buster and Natalie Talmadge Keaton are mighty proud of their offspring. But there are two pages of little queens who accompany him as among the latest arrivals in the film world. They call them baby stars in Hollywood because they are babies first and, secondly, because their parents and their parents' friends can't believe they are destined for anything but stardom in films.

RAMON NOVARRO LOOKS LIKE HIMSELF

"When Ramon Novarro was given a ten-hour notice to fly secretly from Hollywood to Rome to enact 'Ben-Hur' he called me by telephone and asked if I would like to go along and see the chariot race." "Being an adventurer and lover of dangerous sport ever since the day I first rode a merry-go-round I agreed to come over and see him do the big buggy ride." "We left on the Leviathan from New York. The first day Novarro visited the swimming pool on the boat the man in charge told him he looked like Ramon Novarro. It came as a distinct shock to Ramon. 'That's funny,' he said, 'I've been told I look like most everyone, but never Ramon Novarro. I'm glad some one sees a resemblance.'"

BECOMES LEADING LADY IN ONE JUMP

Selected for a leading role after an appearance in forty feet of film was the remarkable experience of Polly Archer. Miss Archer's brief experience that won her such signal honors was as one of the ghosts in Richard Barthelmess' 'The Enchanted Cottage.' Because of the tremendous appeal made by fan letters to see more of the admirable acting done by this young woman, and because of her exceptional work in that 'bit,' she is playing the leading role in 'Classmates,' the latest play starring Barthelmess.

GLORIA'S NEW RESIDENCE PICTURES PUBLISHED

Nesting in the wooded hills along the Hudson river is the new home recently purchased by Gloria Swanson. Exclusive views of the earthly paradise where the famous screen luminary lives with her little daughter and adopted son are shown in October Photoplay. These pictures were taken especially for film fans and pose at several of the favorite nooks on the beautiful estate. During the hot summer months when she was working at the Long Island studio of Famous Players-Lasky, Miss Swanson moved to her beautiful home to enjoy the quiet and rest she had earned after a grilling day before the camera.

THEA BARA SPRANG INTO FAME OVERNIGHT

Thea Bara sprang into fame overnight and there is nothing in the annals of the film world to compare with her sudden rise to stardom.

She burst on an astonished world as the vamp in the screen version of 'A Fool There Was.' She was presented as an exotic flower of the Sahara, but her name was really Theodosia Goodman and she was born in Ohio.

Terry Ramsaye's article in Photoplay deals with picture beginnings of famous stars including Douglas Fairbanks, who, by lunching at the right place at the right time, got his start in films; Geraldine Farrar, and that famous scenario-directing team, Anita Loos and John Emerson. Other interesting high lights in the development of the cinema industry are revealed in 'The Romantic History of the Motion Picture,' revealing for the first time the battles that were waged by producers to secure the services of famous stars of the stage and operatic world.

Fairbanks was sent to Hollywood to work under David Wark Griffith. Of this combination, Ramsaye says:

"Fairbanks' beginning with Griffith was most inauspicious. Griffith was not pleased with the new star's athletic tendencies. Fairbanks seemed to have had the notion that in a motion picture one had to keep eternally in motion and he frequently jumped the fence or climbed a church at unexpected moments not prescribed by the script. Griffith advised him to go into Keystone comedies."

Neither did Griffith admire the work of John Emerson, the director, or the bright titles of Anita Loos. As a result he left them to work out their own destinies on the lot. All of which Mr. Ramsaye tells in his interesting manner.

SAYS CITIES CAN MAKE ASSESSMENTS

his assessment. I don't back up an inch. His property is fairly assessed. Brandle owns quite a lot of good property, and naturally he can't expect to get by for nothing. His total tax bill this year is $1,438.63. I suppose the minute he got it he got a headache. But where does this money go—this $1,438.63?

"There is $736.93 of it goes to school purposes, and $484.44 to the City of Fullerton. That is $1,221.37 of the $1,438.63 is beyond the control of the board of supervisors, in these two items alone, and of the remaining $216.26, a lot goes to roads around Fullerton, $23.48 for interest on bonds, cut, so that if the supervisors had cut its appropriations in half there would have been no great difference in Brandle's tax bill. What Mr. Brandle wants to do is to begin studying expenditures right at home. Men who have attacked me without even paying me the courtesy of investigating the matter, I am taking to Fullerton tabulated statements showing a comparison of Fullerton school expenditures with Santa Ana expenditures and a comparison between the two city governments."

"I have the totals for the past three years, showing Santa Ana's daily average school attendance to be 2772 for the grammar schools with a total expenditure for all purposes of $1,229,977.79. Fullerton with 1089 attendance has a total grammar school expenditure for the three years of $564,048.92. Santa Ana High school district with an average attendance for the three years of 1137 has a total expenditure of $865,868.63, and Fullerton with 801 pupils—which is 736 less than Santa Ana—has a total expenditure of $1,419,339.23. Is there any wonder that Fullerton tax bills look big?

Heavy Expenditures

"Take the two cities. For the three years Fullerton with one-third the population of Santa Ana spent a total of $567,956.67 and Santa Ana spent in the three years $762,346.86. I present those figures without comment, and ask the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce to begin its investigations close at home. In the meantime my books are open to inspection by any taxpayer. I don't believe it a fair tale to county officials, however, for any group of men to shoot any one at sunrise unless they know why they are shooting and whether they are shooting the man they really want shot."

COOLIDGE TALKS AT STOCK SHOW

when Joseph built up Egypt's grain supplies to last during "the seven years of dearth."

Just as the whole Mediterranean world of the time had dependence upon Egypt's grain stored up under the direction of Joseph, so the President said, had the whole world of our time depended in a period of virtual famine upon the great central valleys of America and upon Chicago, the distributing point for their food products.

Mr. Coolidge appealed for more understanding and co-operation between agriculture and industry.

"There has been a great deal of distress endured by the people on the farm," he said. "The commercial and industrial side of our nation has been giving too much thought to wheat and to hogs and corn, to their transportation and to their prices, and not enough thought to the men and women who are engaged in agriculture."

In closing the President pointed to "common sense" co-operation with other nations as "the one road to world markets, world prosperity and world peace."

BLAMES WIFE FOR LOSS OF APPETITE

Asserted conduct of Mrs. Lulu F. Sadler, whose husband, Charles W. Sadler, sued for divorce in a complaint on file in the superior court today, was responsible for his loss of sleep and appetite, which resulted in a nervous breakdown, according to his petition. Staying away from home for days or weeks at a time, Mrs. Sadler refused to explain her absences. She neglected her housework and left her young son with friends or neighbors while she went with other men, he said. She was away from home for a few days last February, but returned and promised to reform, he said. Her promise was broken March 21, when she left him for good, he said. Sadler, represented by Attorney A. E. Koepfel, of Orange, asks custody of the child.

Recover Missing Watch In S. D.

A watch, valued at $50, stolen from Mrs. O. B. Byram, residing seven and a half miles from Santa Ana on the Bolas road, in November, 1923, when her home was entered by burglars has been found in a pawn shop at San Diego, according to word received by the sheriff's department here today.

Description of the stolen property was sent out to police departments throughout Southern California soon after the robbery and police in various cities have been on the lookout for the watch for months.

Mrs. Byram was today preparing to secure her watch from the pawn shop and police were at San Diego are working on clues which may lead to the arrest of the burglar.

In one year the Royal Mint of England produced 287,500,151 silver and bronze coins.

BACK UP THE HEN!

Why do the most successful hatcheries insist that their eggs come from PCA-fed flocks?

HATCHABILITY!

The hatchability of eggs produced by PCA feeds is unusually high. And the vitality of the chicks is well above the average.

WHY?

Because PCA feeds provide your flock with the right nutritional backing.

Because PCA feeds are built, not only for PRODUCTION, but for REPRODUCTION.

Because PCA feeds are based on years of practical experience with feeding, hatching and raising chicks.

Leonard S. Hsu, youngest man ever to obtain a doctor's degree in philosophy at the University of Iowa, took an American wife with him when he returned to China. She was Ruth Smith, a college friend. "We are comfortably settled and everything is getting along so nicely," Mrs. Hsu writes back to friends. "And my wife gets smarter and sweeter every day," says a letter from Hsu. Both are teaching in Wuchang.

CHRISTMAS TREE CUTTING SOLVED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Here kiddies, is good news for you! The real Christmas tree "problem" is how can every family in America have one? The annual "problem" as to the cutting of approximately five million Christmas trees in the United States every year is greatly exaggerated, says a statement by the officials of the American Tree Association, the advocate of forest conservation.

The association makes the statement following the advocacy by H. V. Berry of Ft. Plain, New York, a delegate to the conference on forest utilization, of the federal law prohibiting the sale of Christmas trees. The American Nature association is listed as advocating the proper cutting of Christmas trees, for Prof. Ralph S. Hosmer, dean of the College for Forestry at Cornell University has an article in Nature Magazine that goes carefully into the cutting of Christmas trees.

In Michigan, the Detroit Federation of Women's clubs has put the ban on the Christmas tree. Mrs. Herbert F. Prescott, the president of the federation has sent out an appeal to that end.

"Who would take the Christmas tree, the universal sign of Christmas season out of the lives of the children?" the American Tree association asks in the statement issued by Charles Lathrop Pack, its president. "The Christmas tree is a legitimate by-product of the forest. The real problem is how can every family in America have one. Under proper forest management, which the association advocates, one crop of trees is made to succeed another. That is the big problem to which America must give immediate thought."

"Proper cutting of trees for Christmas use in most cases permits sturdier trees to attain greater growth. As a matter of fact, on most of the land from which spruces and firs are cut, the forest readily replaces itself through natural regeneration. Much of the Christmas tree stock that goes to the Atlantic seaboard cities comes from land that has reverted to forests, or from swampy areas and balsam thickets, or results from the cuttings that farmers make to keep their pastures open for grazing. Frequently the best, often the only, market afforded for the small conifers so removed is as Christmas trees. True conservation of the forest results not from leaving trees to grow old and die, but from their wise use when they are needed, in whatever size, by man."

"It is significant that one does not hear objections to Christmas trees from foresters. On the contrary, these men, whose profession is to manage and protect the forests, assert that the use of Christmas trees is proper and wholly justifiable."

"Considering those who object that the use of trees for one day only is as wasteful as looking closely at this Christmas tree business," says Prof. Ralph S. Hosmer, in Nature Magazine. "Five million a year sounds like a lot of trees, but is it? Suppose we figure it in acreage. It is usual to space trees in forest plantations, six by six feet which makes 1,210 trees to the acre. If five million trees were set out it would require 4,132 acres. As we find them in there may not be so many per acre. Suppose we double the acreage and then throw in a little more for good measure, and assume that our cut of five million Christmas trees come from 10,000 acres, all clear cut each year."

FAR-REACHING REVISION OF RUSSIAN COMMUNIST POLICY NOW INDICATED

MOSCOW (By Mail).—A far-reaching revision of the Russian communists' policy toward the peasantry is envisaged in a speech delivered recently by Stalin, one of the powerful triumvirate now controlling the destinies of the Bolshevik party. Stalin's remarks were addressed to the secretaries of the so-called "communist cells" in the villages. In view of the overwhelming preponderance of peasants among the citizens of the Soviet Union, Stalin's frank admission of the peasants' aloofness from the soviet's political activities acquires high importance.

Stalin stated unreservedly, that the work of the communists in the villages continues to represent the weakest side of the party. The "communist cells," or village groups of bolsheviks, have become accustomed to considering their own mood, rather than the temper of millions of non-partisan peasants, without whose support their work is unavailing. Stalin exhorts his comrades in the villages to learn the needs, desires and humors of the common folk on the land, and to discard their own leanings toward bureaucracy.

Carry On in Cities. He points out that the Communist party in the cities has been able to carry on in full swing, because the bolsheviks are surrounded by a mass of impartial but sympathizing citizens. These non-partisan sympathizers are lacking among the peasants, groups in the villages have not succeeded in approaching closely enough the agrarian population.

It is one of the main tasks of the party, he continues, to create in the villages, as has been done in the urban districts, "an intermediate layer of sympathizers who stand between the party itself and those who are wholly detached from communism."

The communist is admonished to refrain merely from "teaching and commanding" the peasants, and is urged to approach them on a footing of equality.

Learn from Peasants. "We have much to learn from the peasants," says Stalin, "and if we fail to win the confidence of the non-partisan element on the land, a gulf will intervene between our party and the peasantry."

Referring to the recent events in Georgia, Stalin attributes that insurrectionary movement to the "fugitive mensheviks and foreign powers, but adds that the mensheviks succeeded in winning the peasants in various Georgian districts. He attributes the hostility of this "poorly established contract to the communists party and the masses of the land," and, in general, to the inadequate foothold of the party in the provinces.

"The soviets are the 'farmers' of the party's power in the country," declares Stalin, "and this barometer failed to rise to the occasion in certain Georgian districts, when it was most necessary."

"The events of Georgia are significant. What happened there might occur elsewhere in the Union, if we do not succeed in creating an atmosphere of confidence between party members and non-partisans. We must listen to the voice of the growing political energy of the peasantry into the revolutionary channels, it will 'burst in upon us in the form of banditry, much as it did during the Georgian occurrences.'"

Enlist the Peasantry. Concluding his appeal, Stalin asserts that the immediate task of the party is to enlist the peasantry into the management of the country. The conditions for the realization of this program are, he says, because of the "favorable political activity of the peasants. He calls for a 'united front of workmen and peasants against the dominating tendencies of the farmer-proletariat. The local village budgets, revenue, expropriation, taxation, are questions of immediate importance to the peasant, whose active co-operation in the work of the soviets must be encouraged. The effective assistance rendered by the Soviet government in the districts affected by the crop failure has revived the peasants' confidence, and provided a basis for the 're-animation' of the village soviets."

Skeletons May Tell Story of Forgotten Colony

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn., Dec. 4.—Eight hundred skeletons, heaved to be the remains of a white colony massacred by the Indians about 1590, have recently been discovered in a cave near Benham, Virginia.

The discovery was made by S. C. Dyer, a geologist of Mohawk, Tennessee, who believes the colony were friends of Virginia Dare, the first white child in America. The colony came from England and landed on Roanoke Island, Virginia, July 22, 1587, with John White as governor, according to history records. Virginia Dare was born there, August 18, 1587. Governor White went back to England to obtain supplies and on his return in 1590 found Roanoke Island abandoned. No trace of his colony was found except the word "Croatan" carved on a tree. Historians deduced from this that the colonists were either massacred or, during White's absence, moved to a place called "Croatan."

The skeletons, according to scientists, are about four hundred years old. They are, according to the Smithsonian institute, the first trace of the lost colony and the length of time the bones have been in the case and the date of the colony's disappearance correspond very closely, another fact lending authenticity to scientist's belief.

Some scientists believe the Indians herded the entire colony into the cave and left them there to starve. Souvenir hunters carried away so many skulls soon after the discovery that it has been impossible for scientists to determine by measurements whether they are of Mongolian, Caucasian or Ethiopian races. There is a possibility, scientists say, the skeletons might be those of Cherokee Indians.

U. S. TO MAKE BIG DISPLAY OF NAVY SHIPS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Plans are going forward now for a master display of America's powerful armada in the Pacific next summer.

A score or more of ships with about 30,000 men aboard will perform in the biggest show of maritime warfare yet attempted by the navy. Reports from Japan indicate it is interpreted in some quarters there as being a questionable performance. The main maneuvers will take place off Honolulu and then most of the fleet will go southward to Australia, thus keeping practically the entire strength of the navy near the Japanese coast for several months during the summer.

Officials here, however, look lightly upon these reports and do not believe they represent the opinion of the Japanese government. They point out that the "cruise" will merely take the place of the usual north Pacific cruise of the fleet, and that instead of going north, it is intended this time to go south. They deny there is the slightest diplomatic significance to the move.

"The ships will congregate in Honolulu early in June. About July 1 most of them will set out for Australia under command of Admiral Cootner. The battlefleet will consist of three battleship divisions, a light cruiser division, a fleet of destroyers, and a group of the Atlantic scouting fleet, two destroyer divisions and the usual retinue of tenders and storeships."

The project hinges upon obtaining the expected appropriation for the move from congress. It also remains to obtain necessary sanction from British authorities through the state department, but is expected to be arranged without difficulty within a few weeks. Along with the fleet a special ship will carry several hundred editors of American newspapers who are being invited to go along to watch the tests.

Secretary of the Navy, Curtis D. Wilbur, in explaining the motives of the cruise declared he believed it would cement the friendship between Australia and the United States and result in still more cordial relations between the two peoples.

"It will enable them to know us better and us to know them better," he said.

More attention has been directed to the management of this year's cruise because of interest aroused in the manner in which the arms conference treaties are being enforced. It is admitted by Wilbur and all officials of the navy department that the 5-5-3 ratio is not actually in force and that America's fighting men on the sea are inferior to Great Britain. Our tonnage does not total as much as the English ships and the range of our guns is considerably shorter. Likewise a group of battleships in the Atlantic scouting fleet have been thrown out of commission. Eight cruisers must also be constructed to raise the general standard to an equality with the other signatory powers. The matter is to be fought out in this session of congress and perhaps an investigation may be undertaken to determine the exact facts concerning America's inferiority on the seas.

Adirondacks full of nice, Juicy Bears

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., Dec. 4.—Despite that, owing to the forest fire menace, hunters were kept out of the Adirondacks for half the season, a record number of bears were killed in all sections of the mountains this year.

It is probable that as a result of the large number killed within a fortnight of hunting, the present law, which protects Adirondack bears for eleven months in the year, will be repealed and the former all year open season restored.

Adirondack hunters have maintained that bears needed no protection and if they were protected they would increase to an extent that would soon place them in the nuisance class. The old time mountain hunters who made a business of trapping and killing bears for the bounty have passed. The younger generation hunters are by no means as skillful. As a result even before the tribe of bears was protected, the bears had things just about their own way, except during the open season for deer, when a number would be killed by deer hunters. Now, with eleven months protection each year, the animals are increasing by leaps and bounds, say Adirondack woodsmen.

NEW COUNTRY. ROME, Dec. 3.—The Spilloni family has built up a new nation on a small, obscure island off the coast of Italy. They do not pay taxes to the Italian government, but live by themselves with support. There are 13 in the family and they have organized a republican form of government with a written constitution.

PUT 17,000 TAX BILLS IN MAILS

Seventeen thousand bills for the fourth and final payment on income taxes due December 15 were placed in the mails last night.

This installment will complete the payment of taxes on 1923 income and will clear the deck for the collection of tax on the 1924 income which will be due on or before March 15.

Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodell yesterday advised income tax-payers who do not receive their bills by December 5 to communicate with his office and secure duplicate bills in order that they may make their payments on time and avoid penalties. All bills have been sent to the last addresses given by taxpayers in their returns. If a taxpayer has moved and left that four thousand refund checks due taxpayers were mailed to their last stated address and returned by the postoffice as undeliverable. So far as the delivery of refund checks goes, these four thousand taxpayers are classed among the "lost" by the revenue bureau.

The fact that thousands of persons have moved and left no addresses is evidenced by the fact that four thousand refund checks due taxpayers were mailed to their last stated address and returned by the postoffice as undeliverable. So far as the delivery of refund checks goes, these four thousand taxpayers are classed among the "lost" by the revenue bureau.

WEATHER TO BE TOLD VIA RADIO

For the special benefit of citrus growers, the United States weather bureau will broadcast over KHJ each evening at 8 o'clock the weather forecast, it was announced today by H. E. Wahlberg, county farm advisor.

The service started last night and will be given during the period of danger to citrus fruit by reason of cold weather. Arrangements for the service was made by the United States department of agriculture.

"In the past it has been difficult for growers to get information at night at times when weather conditions indicated possible freezing point during the night," Wahlberg said. "The service will relieve growers of the worry incident to possible cold snap, for the forecast will give them advance warning of impending danger. Citrus growers with radios should make it a point to tune in on KHJ each evening at the designated hour."

HOLIDAY RUSH FOR DIVORCES STARTS

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—The holiday rush for divorces is on, according to Superior Judge E. P. Mogan, sitting in divorce court here.

"Starting about Thanksgiving, the suits filed suddenly increase and continue to pile up until the first of the year," Judge Mogan said.

"There are a lot of reasons. Husband and wife are 'a bit close' as the Scotch would say, refuse Christmas money to their wives and the wives 'will stand it no longer.' 'Wife makes her Thanksgiving and holiday calls and something stronger than tea is served. Hubby will 'stand it no longer.'"

Usually, according to Judge Mogan, the hurling of crockery is a feature of holiday divorces. "That's probably because wife is in the kitchen when she is home this time of year," the judge speculated.

Navy Death Rate Shows Increase

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The death rate in the American navy during 1923 was 4.03 per thousand, an increase over the previous year but a rate considerably lower than the average for the last ten peace years, the surgeon-general of the navy reported in his annual statement to the secretary of the navy, recently made public.

New Safe Way to Remove Hair Roots

No need now to undergo painful electric treatments to remove superfluous hair; nor to apply ordinary ineffective hair removers, which only remove surface hairs. A marvelous new Oriental balsam has been discovered which is applied almost as easily as cold cream. ## SYRACUSE IN L. A. FOR GO WITH TROJANS

Powerful Eastern Eleven Comes West With Record of But One Defeat

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—The Orangemen of Syracuse University with Coach "Chick" Meehan at their head, were to arrive here this afternoon for their football argument with the University of Southern California Saturday.

Meehan is bringing 24 athletes. They have been working out for two days at Albuquerque, N. M., and are reported in excellent shape for the contest. They will go through a practice session at the coliseum tomorrow and then rest until called into action the following afternoon.

With only one defeat for the season, that administered by West Virginia Wesleyan, Syracuse has a rugged, powerful squad which, while not in the habit of piling up large scores, functions smoothly and with effect. The squad plays a driving, rushing game that does not lean toward the spectacular.

In Jack McBride, Syracuse fullback, the Orangemen have a candidate for all-American honors. McBride is the best drop-kicker in the east and probably in the country. His last show of skill was in booting three goals against Columbia.

Two thousand U. S. C. students, with the Trojan band, were planned to meet Meehan's squad when it hops off the train here. There will be a variety of functions and entertainments in their honor.

Following are the records of the two teams during their regular 1924 schedules:

Southern California
78 Caltech	6
19 Pomona	0

Give Missouri Permission For L. A. Game

COLUMBIA, Mo., Dec. 4.—Athletic authorities of the University of Missouri have agreed to play a post season game Christmas day with University of Southern California's football eleven and permission will be asked at once from other members of the Missouri Valley conference, it was announced here.

The game probably will be played in Los Angeles and Missouri's share of the receipts will be devoted to erection of a new stadium.

ORANGE SQUAD HEAVIER THAN GLENDALE MEN

Averages Give Local Champ Outfit Advantage; Poly Field Scene of Action

Sifted down to four contenders, the scramble for the Southern California interscholastic football championship today had resolved into a bitter battle between Orange, Santa Maria, Glendale and Compton, with the first two named being made favorites to clash in the deciding game for the title.

Both, however, must eliminate worthy foes, which will test their mettle in the semi-final round Saturday when the Orangemen face Glendale, Central league champs on Poly field, Santa Ana, and Santa Maria tackles Compton, Bay league leaders.

The Orange-Glendale fracas, which is being heralded as the premier attraction of the semi-final round, may attract the largest crowd that has witnessed a football contest in Orange county this season, even exceeding the attendance at the Santa Ana-Fullerton game, which at present holds attendance marks.

The Orangemen though favored to cop, are expected to have a tough battle on their hands against the Glendale crew. The Dynamiters show a heavy line averaging 162 1-2 from end to end, while the backfield is light, but lightning fast. According to the weights issued by the rival mentors today, the Glendale will average 152 pounds as compared with the Orangemen's 158. The lines are virtually evenly matched. Orange having a two-pound-to-the-man advantage, but in the backfield Coach Berg's charges will have a bigger edge, averaging 152 pounds to 140 for the Dynamiters.

Coach Berg's cohorts will terminate their practice this afternoon. They resumed practice yesterday after a two-day layoff.

Save for Lou Wulff, the flashy back, who featured in the San Diego game, the Orangemen will present the same lineup against Glendale as they did for the Southwestern. Bill Handy, a plunging, hard driving back, will replace Wulff who sustained a fractured shoulder in the Sweetwater tussle. The other cripples, "Big Bill" Ralph, Ralph Lloyd and Tommy Townes, are recovering from their injuries and should be in shape by Saturday.

Johnny Adams Is Knocked Out In One-Sided Bout

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 4.—Sammy Sandos, San Diego lightweight, punched his way into a contendership for Pacific coast championship here last night when he stopped Johnny Adams, former coast champion, in the second round. He floored Adams eight times in about a minute.

RICKARD PLANS TO OUTBID PROMOTERS

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—California prize fight promoters must have plenty of ready money if they want to outbid Tex Rickard and bring important bouts to the Pacific coast, according to spokesmen for the promoter.

In particular Rickard intends to stage the next fight in which Jack Dempsey figures. Tom Gibbons probably will be his opponent. Rickard let it be known that he and Jack Kearns have reached a tentative agreement to match Dempsey and Gibbons provided Gibbons beats Kid Norfolk in decisive style next week.

"FIVE-YARDS" MCCARTHY

Fate and football fame often go hand in hand.

Chicago has won the "Big Ten" grid title and fate must deserve a rating in the summary as having, scored the winning touchdown.

This time fate hit upon "Five Yards" McCarthy, Chicago's plunging back as its victim. Thereby hangs an interesting tale.

Prior to the Illinois game the Chicago team was the guest of honor at a social function, which had Coach Staggs as the chief speaker of the occasion.

When the guests sat down to dinner, a chair reserved near the head of the table for one of the Chicago stars was vacant. It developed that "Five Yards" McCarthy was the absentee.

Coach Staggs was plainly nettled. He passed the remark that all but one of his regular appreciated the courtesy that had been extended the Chicago team.

Early the next morning former Maroon stars and prominent alumni made it a point to inform McCarthy that he had grievously erred, seriously offended his coach. All suggested that he try to make amends.

Football games are not won at banquet tables. Oratory, which is mostly hot air, never made any touchdowns on the football field. And besides I wasn't hungry.

That is the way McCarthy explained his absence from the social function.

McCarthy Interviews Coach However, McCarthy was prevailed on to call on his coach and try to get back in Staggs' good graces. The story is that the day of the Illinois game McCarthy was closeted with Staggs for an hour.

What passed between the two no one but Staggs and McCarthy will probably ever know. McCarthy is the fighting type; there doesn't seem to be much sentiment in his makeup; a fellow who apparently believes solely in the survival of the fittest.

However, when he emerged from Staggs' office those who know say that he was brushing aside several tears, proof that laughter was no part of the program.

Played Game of Career That afternoon McCarthy played the game of his career. He tied with Harold "Red" Grange for the honors of the day. A draw would have been a good decision as the

SMITH KICKS LOCAL ELEVEN INTO 6-0 WIN

Two Drops In First Period Beat Pasadena, Put S.A. In Championship Race

Little Ray Smith, a curly and red-haired slip of a boy, dropkicked Santa Ana high school's class C (110-pound) football team into a championship yesterday afternoon.

Two perfectly executed boots from the 25 and 20 yard lines, respectively, early in the first quarter gave the 6 to 0 margin over the Pasadena Class C eleven by which Ed Covington's paperweights battled their way to the Coast Preparatory league title and the right to enter the playoff for the Southern California championship of their division.

These honors were won after only the hardest kind of a fight for Pasadena, coming to life in the last quarter and waging a desperate last-minute forward pass rally, had the ball far into Poly territory. Some excellent defensive work by the local line saved the day just when defeat seemed imminent.

Recover Blocked Punt

Santa Ana scored in the first five minutes of play when two or three of its linemen broke through and blocked a Pasadena punt at mid-field. One of these blockers, brother of the Poly varsity captain, picked the oval from the ground and raced to the Bulldog 20-yard line before he was dropped from behind. The Pasadena line stiffened.

It was just a few minutes later that Smith caught a Pasadena punt and ran the ball back 45 yards to the Pasadena 18-yard line. Again Pasadena held and again Smith this time from a difficult angle, dropped one unerringly between first two days of December aggregated more than $10000 over the total of permits issued during the entire month of November. The permits amounting to $45555 have been issued during the first two days of the month. If the present building rush keeps up during the remainder of the month, December may prove to be the record month of the year's building of this help. During November fourteen permits were issued amounting to slightly more than $3000.

Joseph Varra was granted the first permit of the month for a garage at 419 Tenth street. It will cost about $250. I. C. Warm is also constructing a garage.

L. F. Campbell, of 151 Nineteenth street, will erect a garage on his property. The building was estimated to cost about $55. Campbell will do the work himself.

C. W. Yost, of the Auburn tract in this city, has issued a permit for a three room house and age. Ridenour brothers, contractors, are in charge of the construction work. The buildings will cost $2500, it was estimated.

The Southern California Drilling company has started the erecting of a drilling rig on property located at Springfield and Huntington avenues. The cost of the rig was estimated at about $2000.

E. C. Robinson, of 619 Twelfth street was issued a permit to erect a garage on property owned by him at 626 Thirtieth street. The garage was estimated to cost about $50.

H. B. SCOUTS TO BE AT BANQUET

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec.

—Local Boy Scouts will assist members of the Scout troop in Fullerton Friday night when a "father and son" banquet will be held at that city. Eighteen of the local Scouts under the direction of Scoutmaster C. E. Morris will make the trip and have prepared special stunts and Scout demonstrations for the evening.

A special musical feature will be staged by three members of local Scout troops.

Plans are also being laid by local Boy Scouts for a Christmas party. The three troops will combine their activities to care for families in need. It was announced by Scoutmaster Morris. The party will be held at the Scout cabin on December 19.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—Capt. Edmonds, 2d, a federal marine agent, was in the hospital today with a bullet wound in his leg while his prisoner was in jail.

Edmonds was accidentally shot by another officer last night when they pursued Edward Tadias, a suspected drug peddler. Edmonds seized him, and, although he could not stand on his feet, held firm to his man until other officers arrived.

FARMER LEGISLATION

That agricultural and horticultural interests in California are well organized for looking after state legislation that concerns the welfare of the farmer and orchardist has been evidenced at the sessions of the State Legislature during the past six years. Previous to that time, the farmer had the personal good will of many legislators, but nobody knew what the farmer wanted and the farmer himself was as ignorant in that matter as were the legislators.

The meeting of representatives of the Orange County Farm Bureau last night with the executive officer of the State Agricultural Legislative Council in itself tells the story of the foundation idea upon which the council is operating. The purpose is to get from the farmer and from his organizations and co-operative associations a concrete program of legislation that the farmer ought to have, and to get from him an understanding concerning proposed legislation that would be inimical to his interests. Then, always on the ground, there is maintained at Sacramento a bureau to represent the farmer, to fight for legislation he wants and to fight legislation he does not want.

This organized representation of the farmer at Sacramento is of inestimable value. It is worth while because it clarifies clouded legislation. It offers its services to the legislators, who, as a rule, at heart are favorable to the farmer's interests. Its greatest service is the great mass of proposed legislation studied and analyzed by intelligent, trained men who look upon it from the viewpoint of the farmer.

We are satisfied that the ordinary legislator is a friend of the farmer, even though the legislator live in the city and is at Sacramento representing a city district. He is willing to play ball with the farmer, for he realizes that the farmer is the backbone of prosperity. But he needs to have someone to tell him wherein the farmer is interested. The State Agricultural Legislative Council's job is to tell him.

HEAR ROARING ATOMS

Now scientists in a research laboratory of the General Electric company have perfected a device enabling them to hear the atoms in a piece of iron. Magnetism, it appears, is not a silent phenomenon. As a magnet is brought near a piece of iron a rustle is heard. If the approach is sudden, the noise is loud and abrupt; if slow, the sound is soft and more permanent. When the magnet is removed, all the disturbed atoms begin to scurry back to their own places in the iron, and sound results. When the poles are reversed, extremely loud and abrupt noise is heard. These sounds are not heard with the unaided human ear. By a they are clearly caught by means of an ordinary radio amplifier and loud speaker.

Listening to the atoms' roar may seem like a silly pastime. Yet it should aid greatly in the fascinating study of the life and habits of the atom, on which so much modern science rests.

A COAL MERGER

Soft coal operators are beginning to get together, as hard coal operators did years ago. Plans are going forward for the consolidation of 145 bituminous mines in Indiana, under a $6,000,000 corporation.

The operators say they must combine if they expect to remain in business. At the present time the mines in the Indiana field are producing only one-third of their capacity. The idea is not big production but the suiting of operation to market conditions by producing as much coal as is wanted, when and where it is wanted. Many mines would be closed until they were needed.

This should be better than the old, chaotic situation, in which mines were rushed part of the time and idle the rest, with ruinously large overhead expense, tying up about twice as much capital and labor as were required to supply the normal demand.

There should be many such consolidations, provided the operators pass along to the public its share of the benefits from cheaper production. If they do not, the government may have to take a hand in the game.

AVAILABLE PUBLIC LAND

The public domain is far from being all gone. Uncle Sam still has a lot of land on his hands that he is willing to give away to deserving citizens. The unreserved, unappropriated public lands still aggregate 186,000,000 acres, scattered through 24 states.

Little of this vast domain is generally regarded as choice land. Most of it is mountain or desert. Nevada contains the largest available area, with Utah second and California third. But ideas about land change considerably with the lapse of time, the crowding of the country and the change of working and living conditions.

Mountains are going to be mighty valuable hereafter, when there are several hundred million people living in the United States, and air transportation is quick and cheap. Millions then will work in the cities and live in the hills. Deserts themselves will take on new value.

Some foresighted persons will pick out a pile of rock or piece of woods or stretch of sand or swamp for their grandchildren, who will know what to do with it.

THE ADMIRER HORSE

Although the horse is supposed to be out of date and to have no place in daily life, particularly in cities, the horse show continued to be a popular affair. The shows held in Kansas City, Mo., recently as part of the American Royal Livestock Show were largely attended by enthusiastic crowds. There were cowboy stunts, special cavalry drills and other features. In addition, there was a fine display of harness horses, three and five-gaited saddle horses, hunters and jumpers, Shetland and Welsh ponies, Hackney horses and other samples of "the cream of horseflesh." There were special $1,000 and $3,000 stake events.

And to all this many persons who have never driven or ridden a horse in their lives came and applauded enthusiastically. The horse has long been a friend to man, and man has long admired the horse. It is possible that this element enters in making the popularity of a horse show. When people go to an automobile show they are either planning to buy cars or wishing that they might buy cars. When they go to a horse show no such practical motive impels them. They go because they admire the fine horses to be seen there and because they can't help having a keen interest in them.

CAREFUL ABOUT STOCKS

"We are going into the greatest stock boom ever known," says Warren S. Stone, president of the Locomotive Engineers and head of the Brotherhood of Banks. "There will be 30 or 40 big foreign loans made in the next year or year and a half. They are dressing up old stocks and bonds foreign and domestic, in new clothes, and selling them to the public. This is going to go on until they have got all the gold drained out of the country, and got most of the suckers' money, and then we are going to have another period of depression."

It may not be as bad as that, but the tendency is that way, and the public had better take warning accordingly. As Wall Street grows active and optimistic and the market for securities improves, the financial crooks get busy again. There may soon be a deluge of "blue sky" stocks, not worth the paper they are engraved on.

Forging a Monkey Wrench

During the last congressional campaign the Colorado River Control club was organized in Imperial county. The alleged purpose of the club was to oppose the Swing-Johnson bill on the ground that Congress should provide for a flood control dam only, preferably located near Needles and should entirely eliminate the All-American canal from consideration. The real purpose of the club was very clearly to effect the defeat of Congressman Phil D. Swing and it was rumored that the real power behind the club was Harry Chandler, financial and otherwise.

Chandler of the Los Angeles Times, it will be remembered that this club sent a delegation to Riverside at the time of the Sample meeting here and these men in their talks at that meeting claimed to represent the "overwhelming sentiment of Imperial valley" in opposition to Swing and the All-American canal.

When the votes were counted in Imperial county, it was found that this Colorado River club was snowed under five to one.

That repudiation by the voters of the valley, however, has apparently failed to put any damper on the activities of the organization. Now the club announces that it is sending a delegation to Washington, headed by W. S. Fawcett, millionaire melon grower and former mayor of El Centro, who is well known in Riverside. This committee claims that it is not opposed to the Swing-Johnson bill, but wants it amended to eliminate the bill stands no show of passage unless it is so amended. Leaders in the house have, however, stated most emphatically that the All-American canal feature of the bill is no handicap, but on the contrary has strengthened it.

The All-American canal would mean a water supply for thousands of fertile acres in arid or insular Imperial counties that are now arid or insufficiently supplied with water; and it would mean freedom from the domination of the irrigation supply of the Imperial valley by land interests below the Mexican border. The latter reason makes it evident why Harry Chandler is so strongly opposed to the All-American canal and so much interested in the Colorado River Control club.

At this distance it looks as if this River Control club was forging a monkey wrench to throw into the works at Washington with the purpose of blocking the passage of the Swing-Johnson bill in any form. Private power interests do not want to see the government build the Boulder dam; if there is a dam built, they want to construct it and control the vast amount of electric power that could be generated there. Land interests in Mexico are opposed to the All-American canal because that proposed to the Imperial valley would be delivered through a canal traversing only American territory instead of through one running through Mexico and therefore subject to exactions from Mexican land owners and dangers from political changes in that troubled country.

The River Control club of course has a perfect right to send a committee to Washington; but it is hoped that it will be made perfectly clear who they really represent and what their true purpose is.

And the Press is inclined to the view that one Phil D. Swing will make whatever explanations are necessary in a way to command attention and confidence.

Editorial Shorts

There is talk of widening and improving all of the different highways into the San Bernardino mountains. Especially is this asked for the state highway up Waterman Canyon. All of the highways into Southern California mountain beauty spots should be improved and the grades made easier. Particularly is this true of the highway into the Idyllwild country. There is no reason why Riverside county should take a back seat in this regard any longer. A start should be made during the coming year, with an effort to secure both state and federal assistance. No greater undeveloped mountain areas with beautiful trees exist anywhere than in the mountains of our own county.—Riverside Enterprise.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

THE VALUE OF CHANGE
You have perhaps heard the criticism made of a certain physician—the effect that when he didn't know what was wrong with a patient, he advised him to take a trip. As a matter of fact, in the majority of these cases, the physician did know what was wrong with the patient.

Although there was perhaps no organic trouble, the patient was really "sick" in the sense that he was not himself. He felt miserable, was incapable of sustained effort, and was not really interested in anything. His food didn't taste right, and he was sleeping poorly. Now what about this advice to take a trip or holiday?

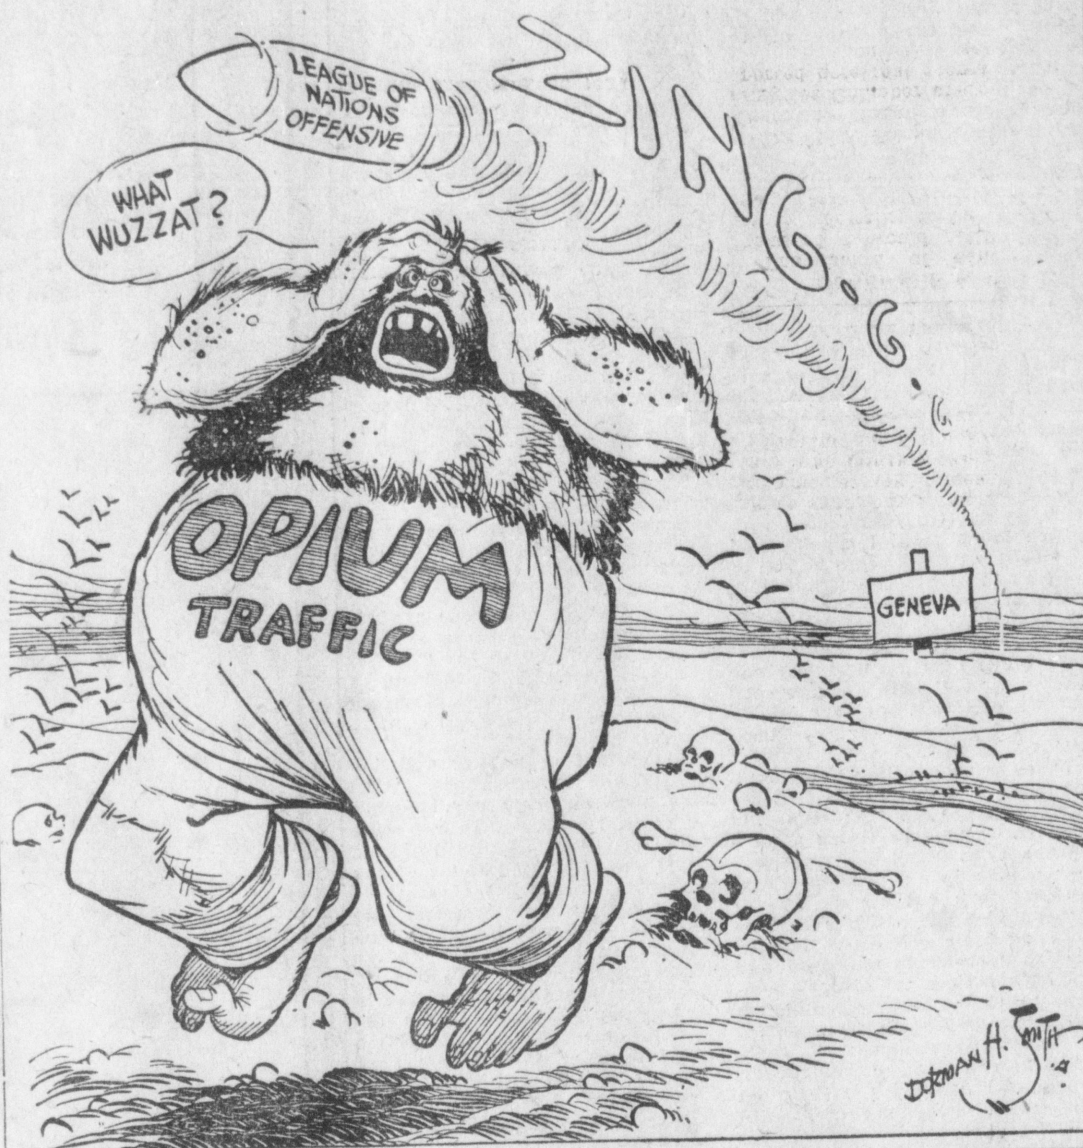

Well, one of the first things the trip does is to take his mind off his business or household affairs. New scenes and new people enter into his life. But a big factor is that he begins to get a change of food. He is getting out and about more, and when he sits down to his meal he brings to it a real appetite, and a free mind. The digestive juices work better and intestinal movement is attained.

This is what his physician wished to secure for him, and realized that only a change of scene would help him to get back his appetite for food, and with it, his appetite for life. Now everybody can't get away on trips, and you may be "fed up" on your food, job, and life itself. What are you going to do about it?

Try and make some change in the daily routine of your life. Get up a little earlier, and walk part of the way to work. Walk part of the way home, and then take the car the latter part of the way. You can't change the routine of the cooking and the food in your own home perhaps, but there is one thing you can do. That is cut down on all your food for about a week, particularly the fats. Drink a little more water than is your custom.

With the extra amount of air and exercise and less food, by the end of the week you'll be able to eat anything that is put on the table. Remember you've simply got the "fed up" feeling, and this simple method will help to correct it.

THE DAFFODILS

I wandered lonely as a cloud
That floats on high o'er vales and hills,
When all at once I saw a crowd,
A host of golden daffodils,
Beside the lake, beneath the trees,
Fluttering and dancing in the breeze.

Continuous as the stars that shine
And twinkle on the milky way
They stretched in never-ending line
Along the margin of a bay!
Ten thousand saw I at a glance
Tossing their heads in a sprightly dance.

The waves beside them danced, but they
Outdid the sparkling waves in glee:
A poet could not but be gay
In such a jocund company!
I gazed—and gazed—but little thought
What wealth the show to me had brought:

Very oft, when on my couch I lie
In vacant or in pensive mood,
They flash upon that inward eye
Which is the bliss of solitude;
And then my heart with pleasure fills
And dances with the daffodils.

—William Wordsworth.

LUCIFER IN STARLIGHT

On a starred night, Prince Lucifer uprose,
Tired of his dark dominion swung the fiend
Above the rolling ball in cloud part screened,
Where sinners hugged their specter of repose.
Poor prey to his hot fit of pride were those,
And now upon his western wing he leaned,
Now his huge bulk o'er Afric's sands careened,
Now the black planet shadowed Arctic snows,
Soaring through wider zones that pricked his scars
With memory of the old revolt from Awe.
He reached a middle height, and at the stars
Which are the brain of heaven, he looked, and sank,
Around the ancient track marched rank on rank,
The army of unalterable law.

PRACTICING

THE neighborhood's quiet, and then comes a riot, a rattle, a clatter and din. Your peace has departed when someone is started to play on a new violin.

Like a series of pains come the practice strains, as the sound from next door travels fast. It comes like a streak, does the violin squeak, and you wonder how long it will last.

And then, while you're troubled, your trouble is doubled, as someone's sweet voice is rehearsed. Soon the warble and shout drowns the violin out and you wonder while music is worst.

A sour note plays a while before it means bad, for the song seems the music is sad, which in slang phrase means bad, for the song seems to ever was thus and it's useless to fuss cause it's bound to be always that way. The music will roar when you're living next door to some neighbors who practice all day.

Child Labor in California

The California child labor laws in half a page. By section 6, all should be, and I believe are satisfactory to the most enthusiastic supporter of child rights. They cover twenty-five closely printed pages, and the following summary necessarily excludes nearly all detail and the general statements which only are possible in the available space may not always express the situation with precision. It is substantially correct and sufficient to show that in applying the amendment to the Constitution of the United States concerning child labor we should be legislating not for California but for the people of other states and against the will of some of them. If we can properly help to persuade other states, we can have no ground of complaint should they some time unite to coerce us.
